

Senior Symposium

Sara Abdo

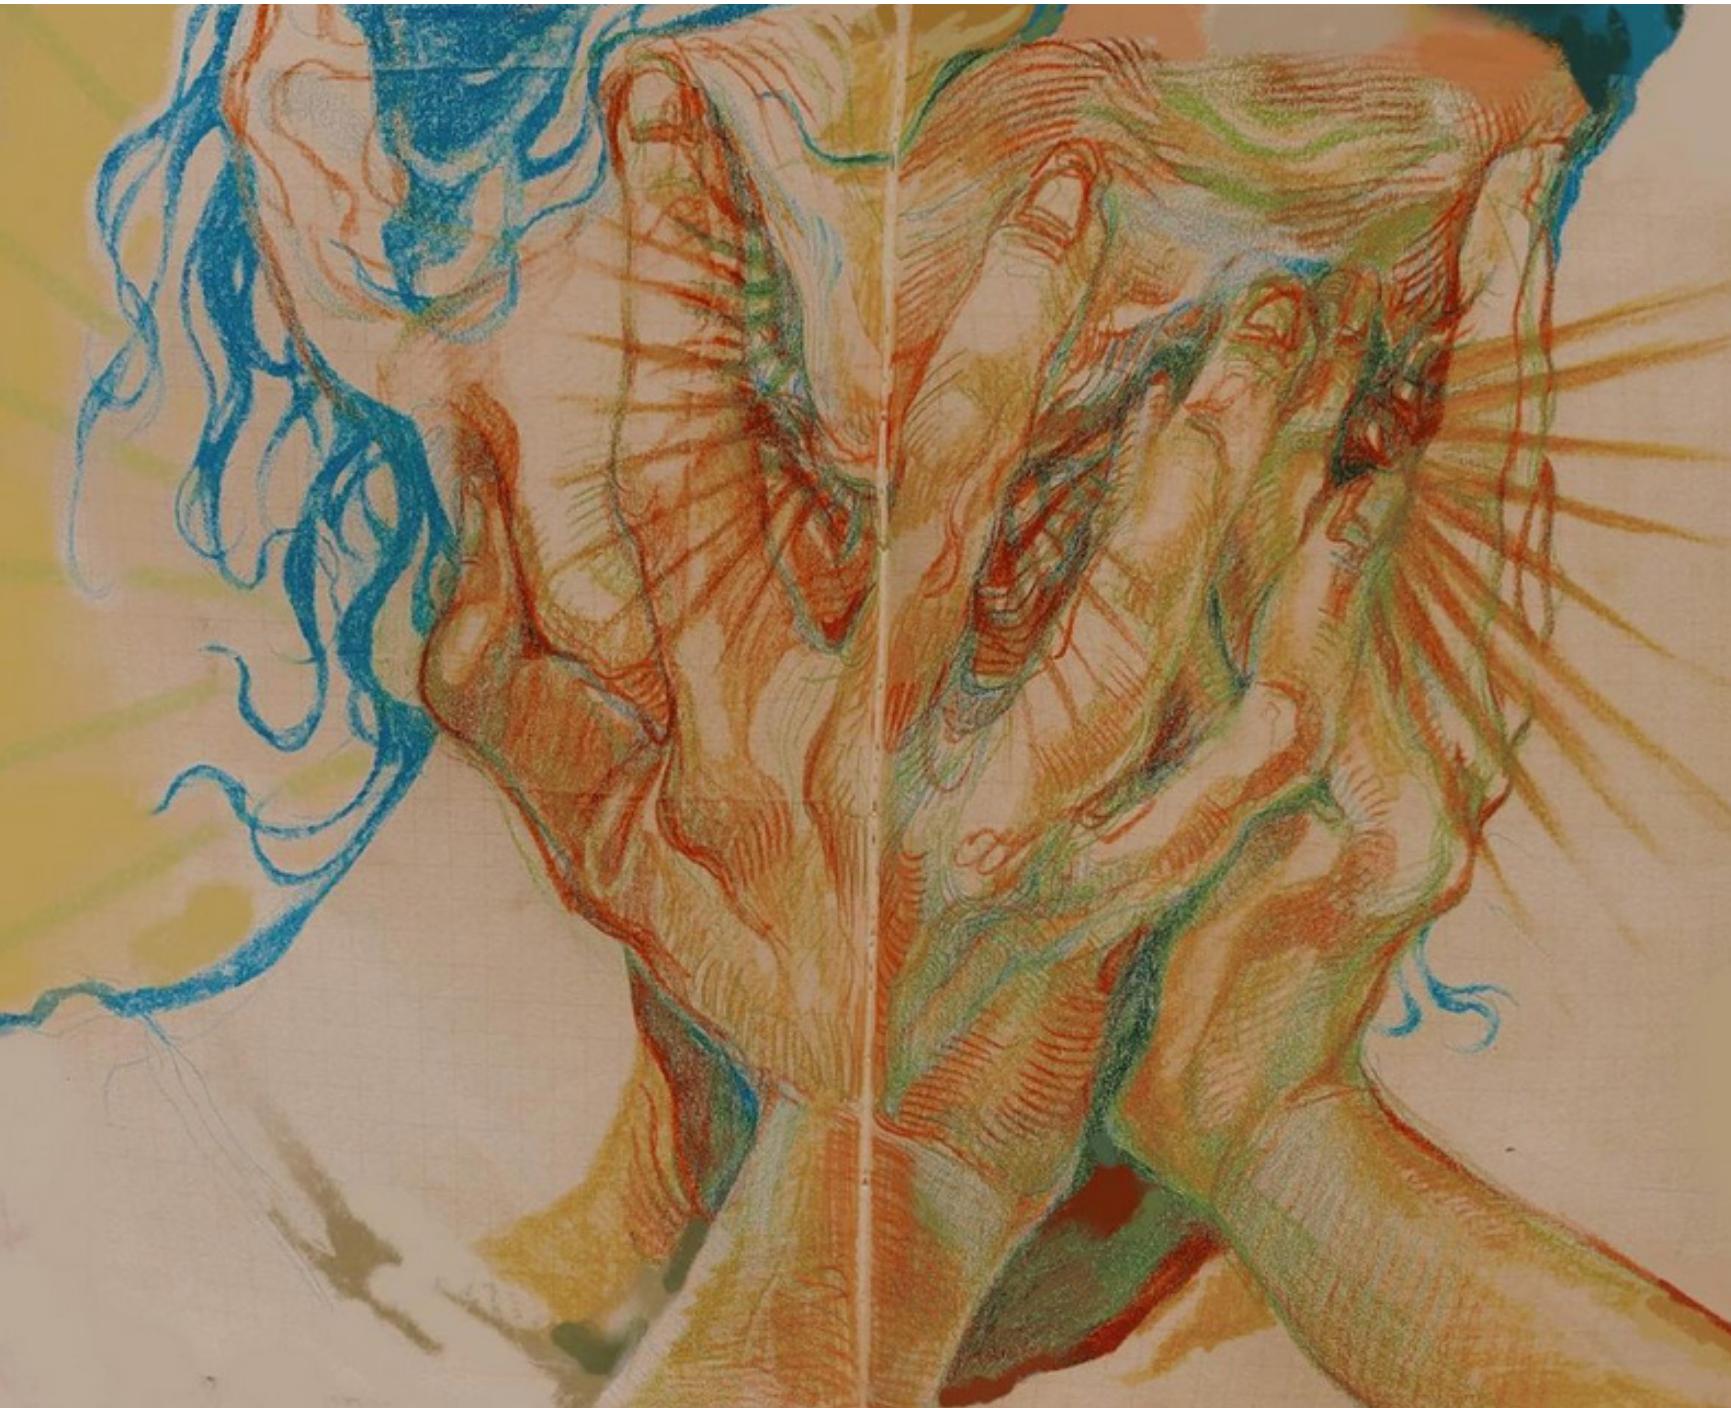

THE GOAL: persuade the viewer of your work to consider ideas that may be opposing their worldview. The intent is to open minds, not change them. Someone should walk away from your exhibit with a fresh perspective after having considered an opinion that is different from their own.

Is humanity good or evil?

“We are the vessels for the things we seek.”
Joél Leon

Seren, @ieafy

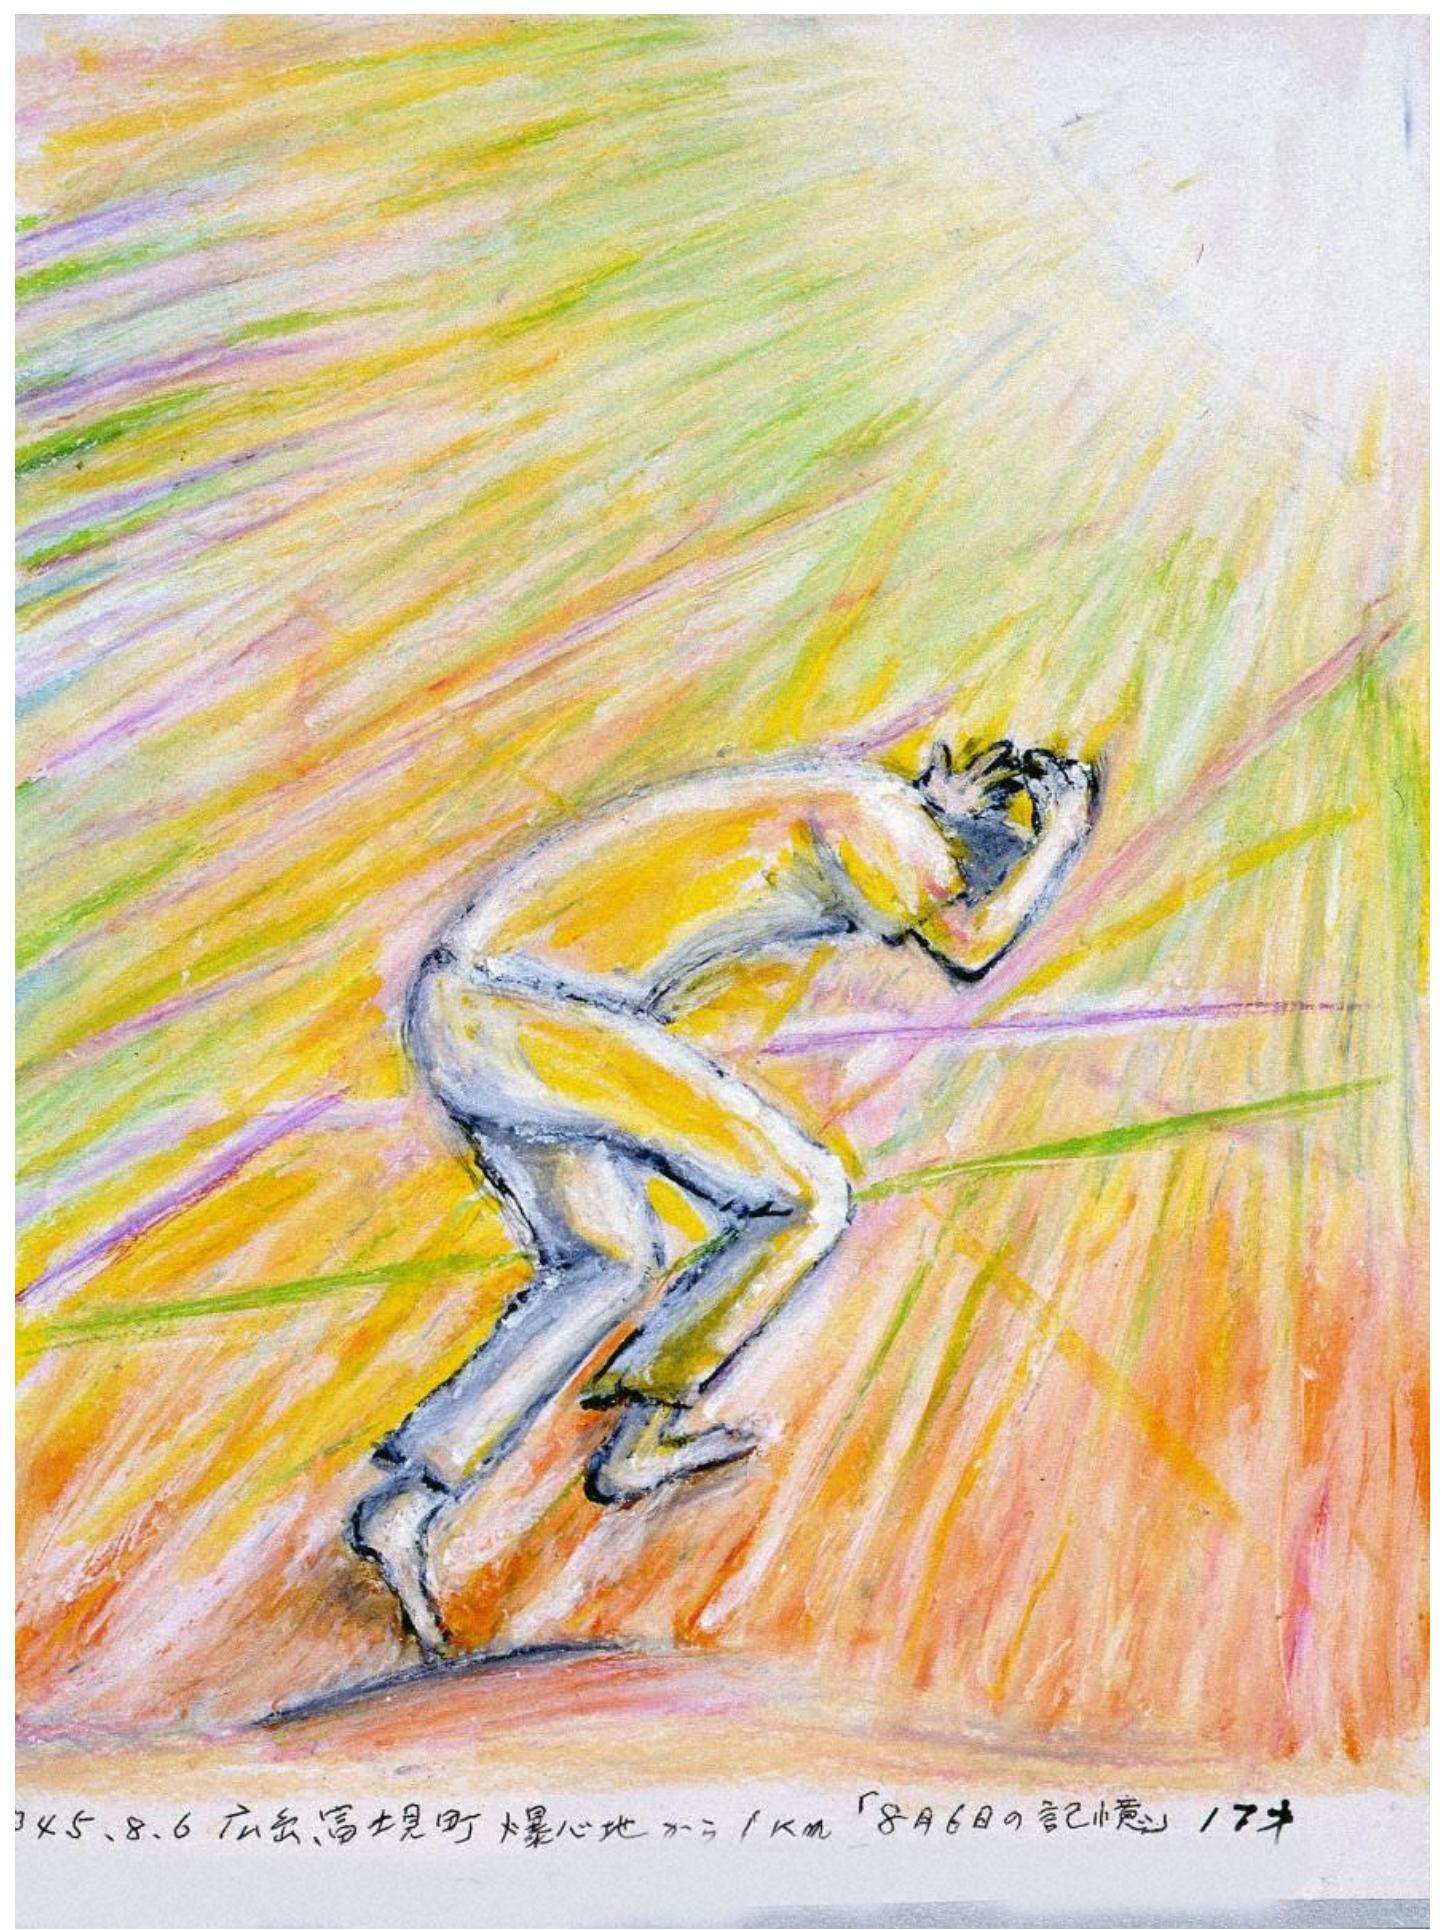

Mya, @nephrosoupp

STOFFBERG

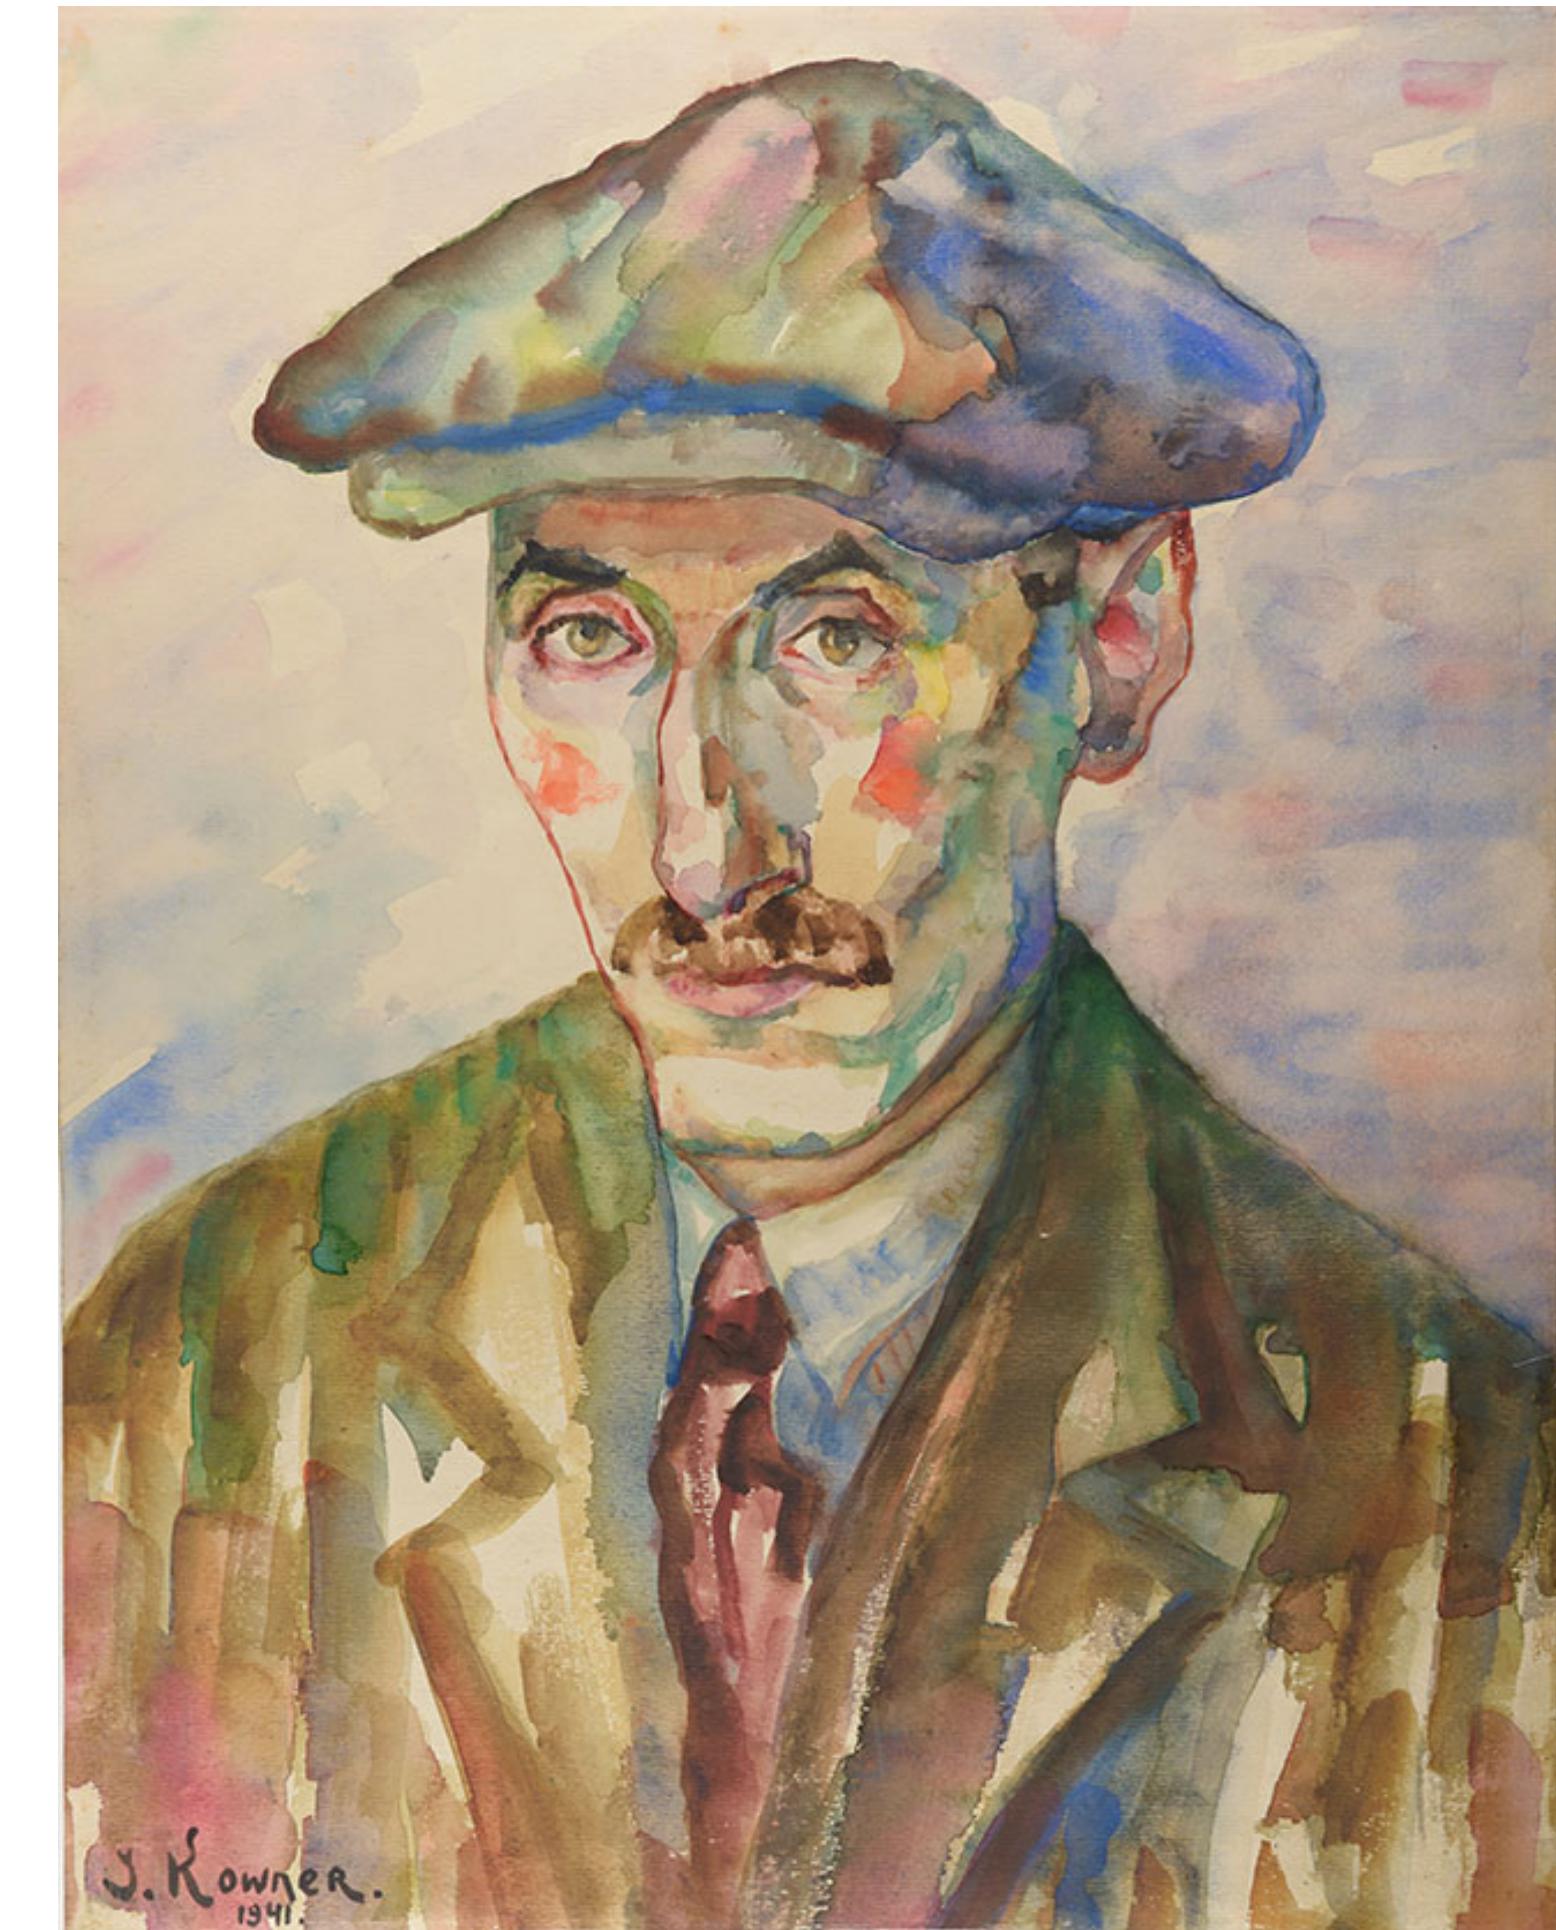

@stoffberg

Ryuji Ishigai

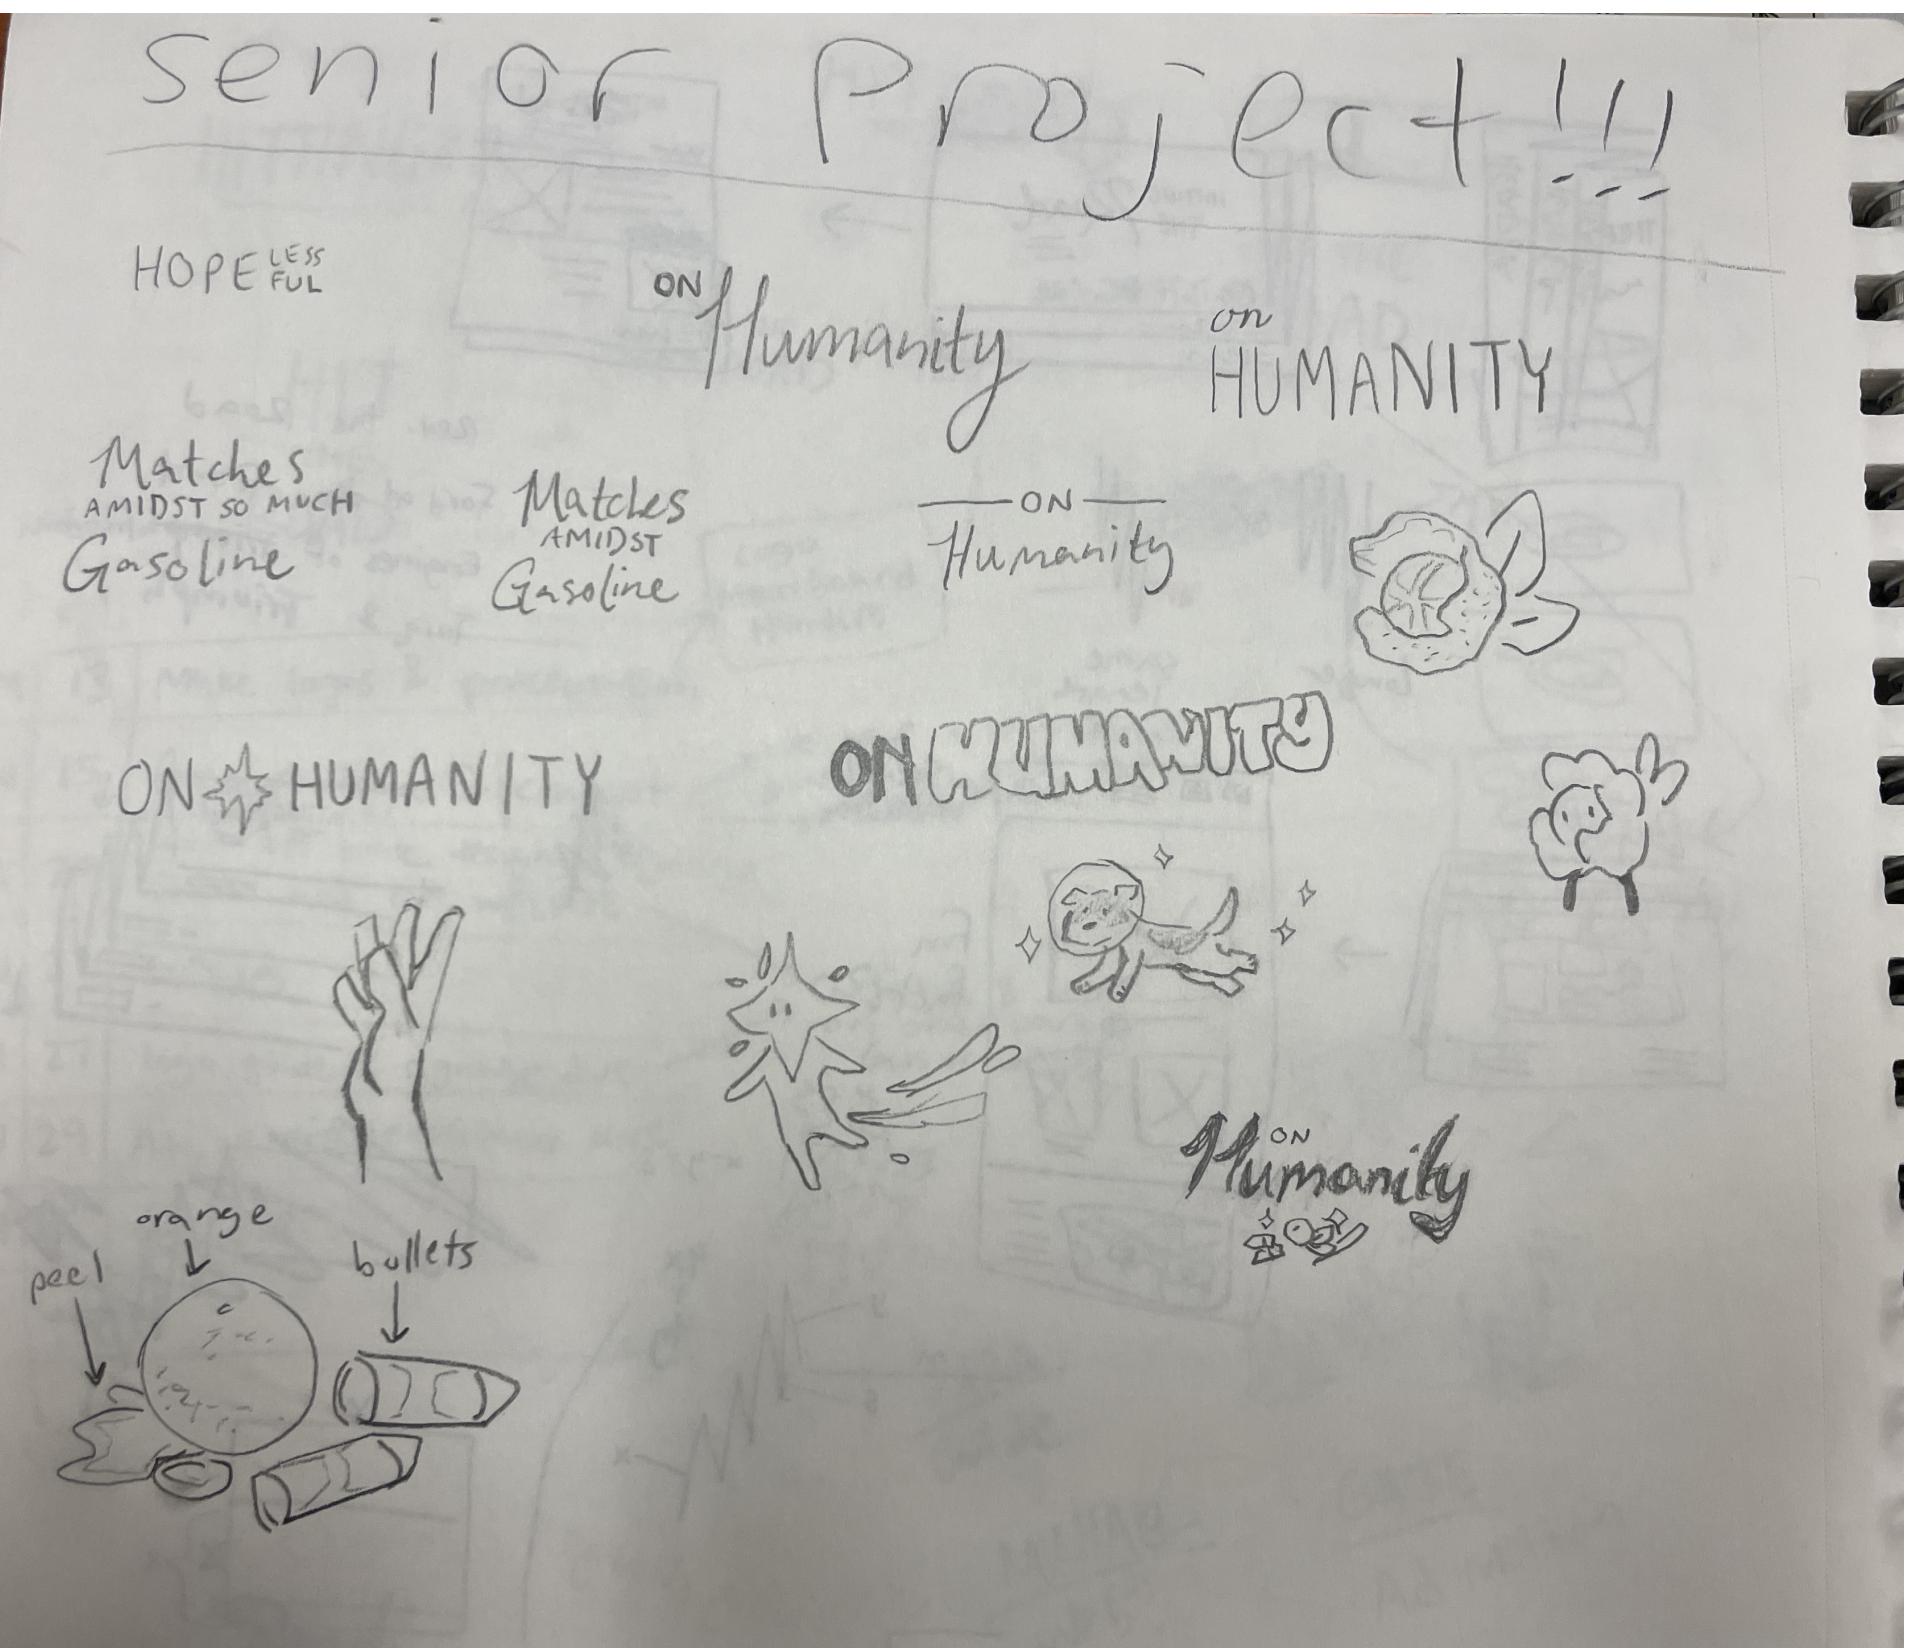

Yamada Sumako

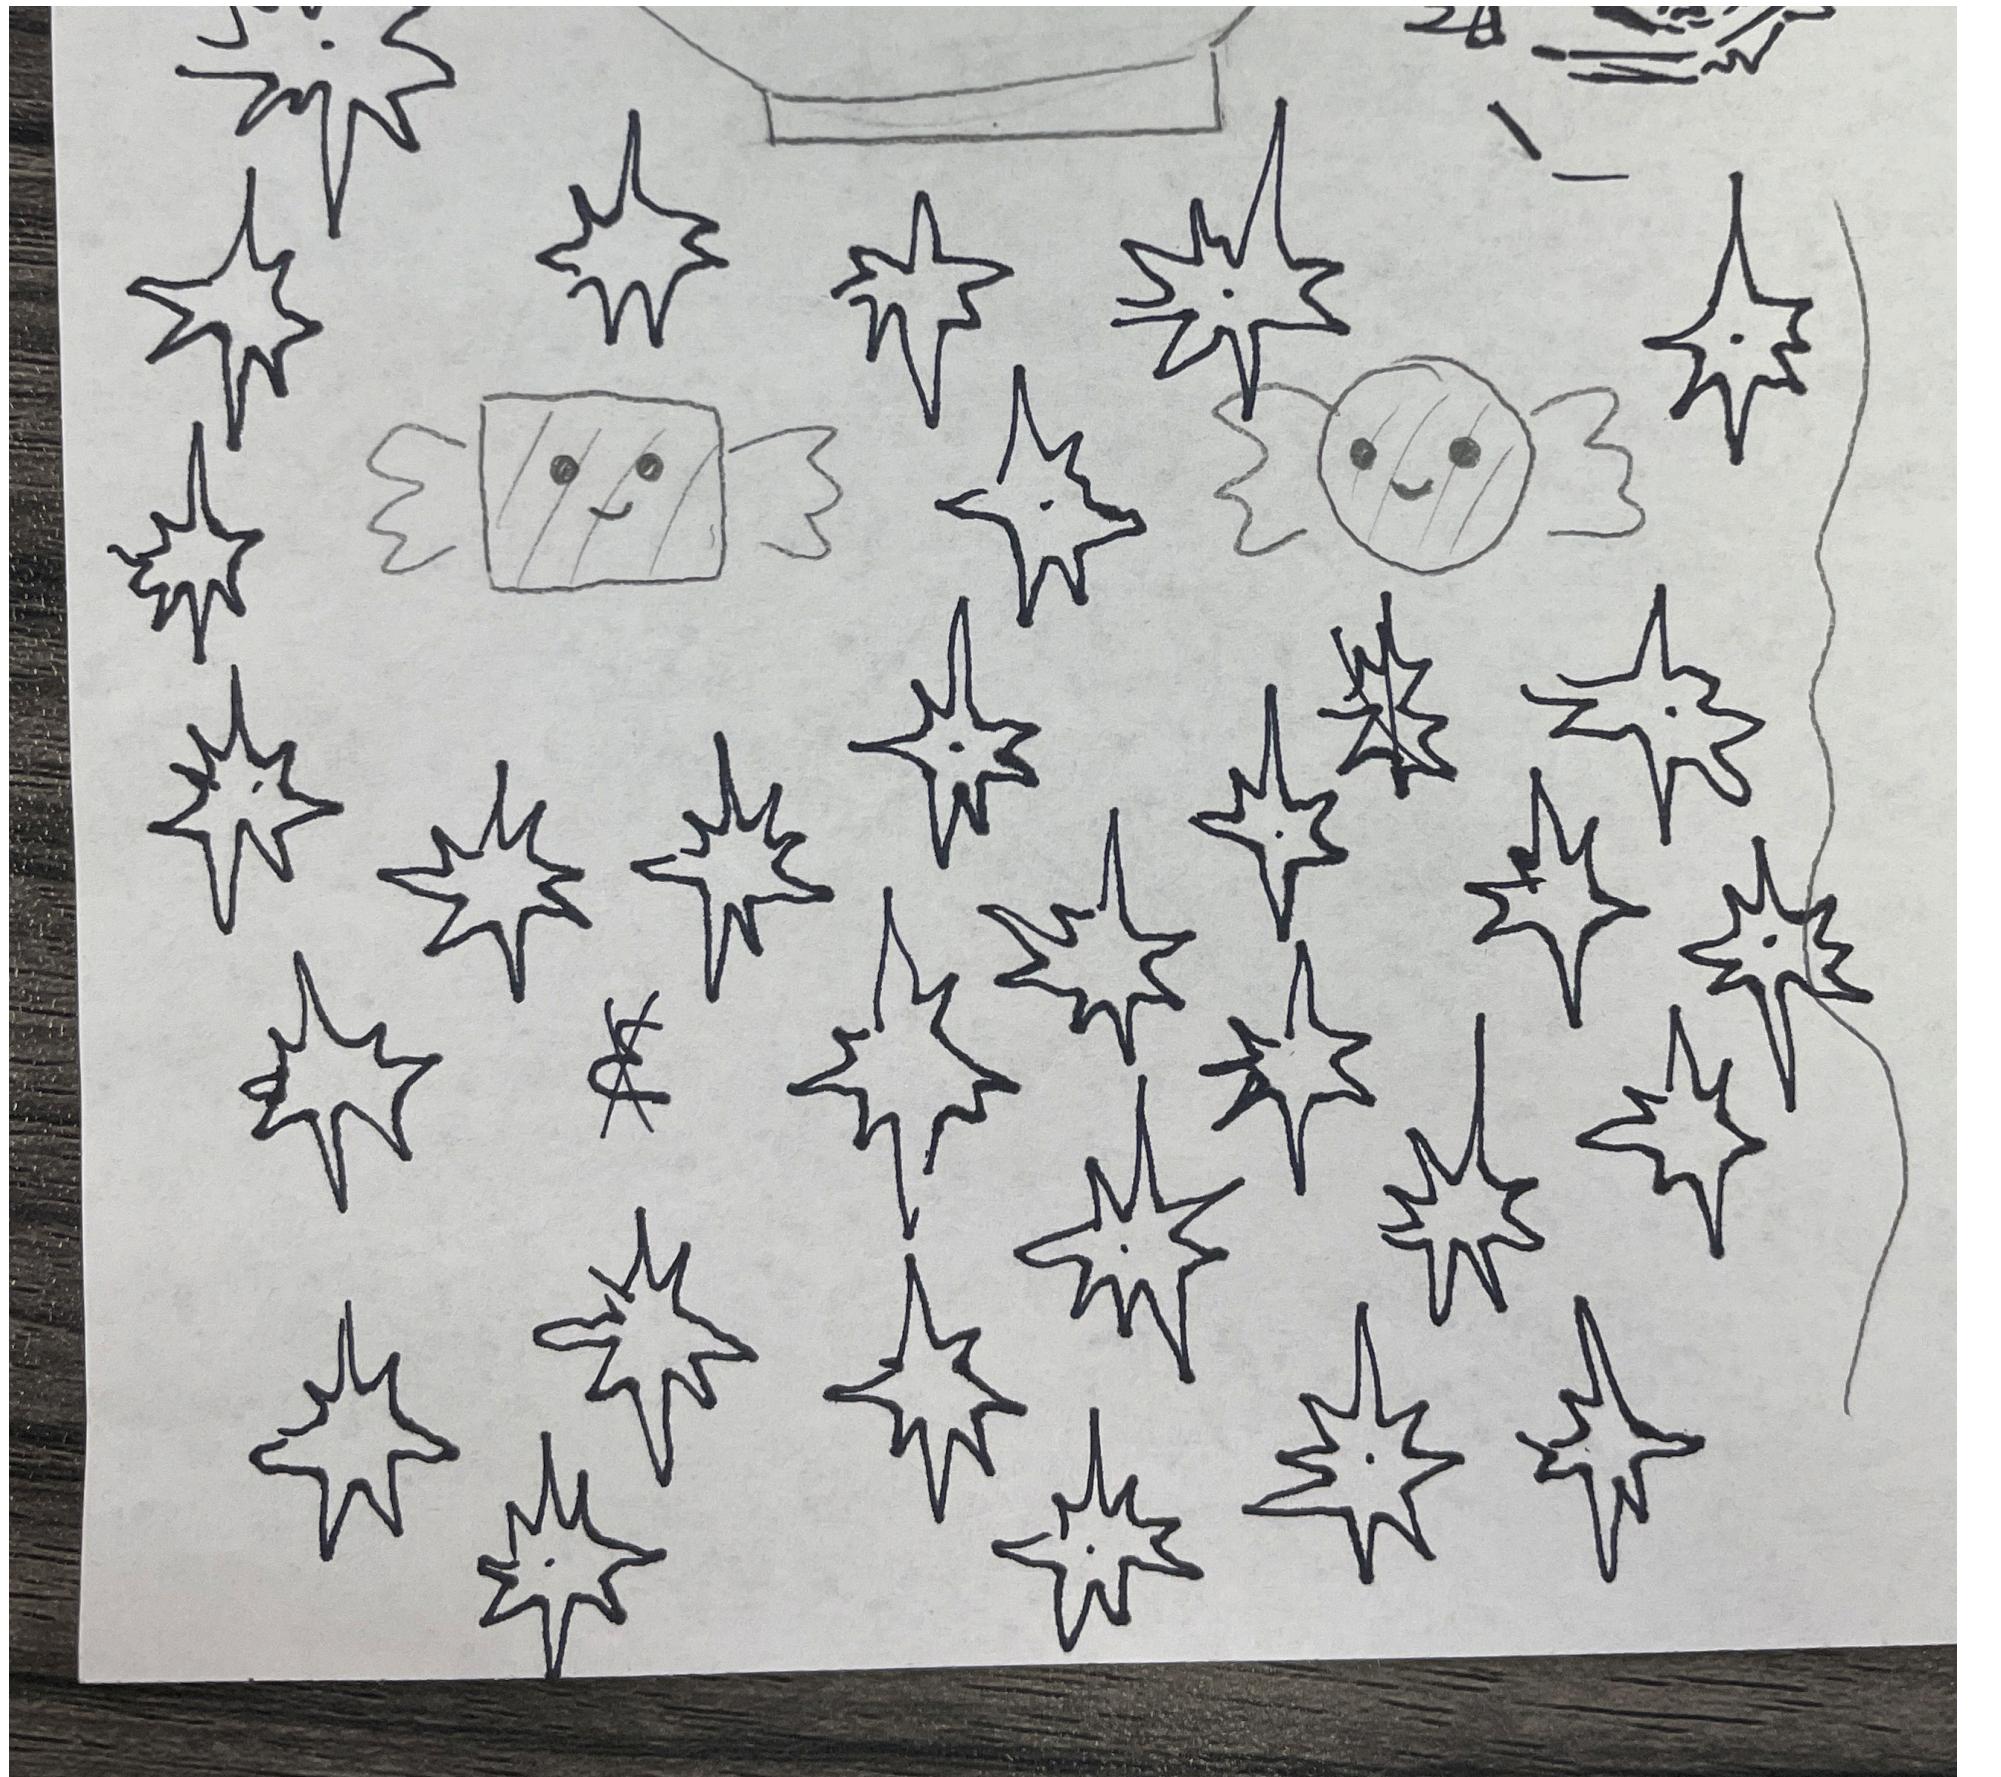

Josef Kowner

Word vomit for titles

Kindness	مع بعض "together"
Hands	بِتَاعَكُ "yours"
Reaching out	Our	Monsters
Cruelty	Who are we?	On Humanity
Polarity	Being the change	In our defense
Love	Under the rock	What can we do?
Compassion	Small things	Hopeless/ ful
Cave paintings	Candle	On the scales
Give or take	Darkness	Weight
Choices	Duality	To be human
Judgement	Making	After careful consideration
Will we overcome?	Impact	"Bed of uranium"
Together	Humanity	"matches amidst so much gasoline"
Belonging	Overcoming

on humanity

Dreaming Outloud Sans Regular

The quick brown
fox jumps over the lazy dog

So Lovely Regular

*The quick brown fox
jumps over the lazy dog*

Felt Tip Woman Regular

The quick brown fox
jumps over the lazy
dog

Felt Tip Roman Regular

The quick brown
fox jumps over the lazy dog

Marydale Regular

The quick brown fox
jumps over the lazy dog

GoodDog New Regular

The quick brown fox
jumps over the lazy
dog

Gloria Hallelujah Regular

The quick brown fox
jumps over the lazy
dog

Vendetta OT Medium

The quick brown fox
jumps over the lazy
dog

Artigo Display Regular

The quick brown fox
jumps over the lazy
dog

Tzimmes Regular

The quick brown
fox jumps over
the lazy dog

Dovetail MVB Regular

The quick brown
fox jumps over
the lazy dog

Study Regular

The quick brown
fox jumps over the lazy dog

Malaga OTCE Reg

The quick brown
fox jumps over
the lazy dog

Dapifer Book

The quick brown
fox jumps over the lazy dog

Mislab Std Regular

The quick brown
fox jumps over
the lazy dog

Contents

"During the Second World War"	3	The End and the Beginning	40
Alabanza: In Praise of Local 100	5	For the Heart	41
To the United States Army	7	Grandfather	42
Things	9	Digging in a Footlocker	43
Blues and the Abstract Truth	10	Afterimages	45
I Ask My Grandmother if We Can Make Lahmajoun	11	L.A. Prayer	47
Bell theory	13	The Black Maria	49
Minor Miracle	15	Old Story	52
Arms and the Boy	17	On Hearing a New Escalation	53
Christmas Day Truce	19	Her Life Runs Like a Red Silk Flag	55
Haiku from Hiroshima	20	Enemies	57
Pitahaya	21	Maybe the World Ends Here	58
Emerald Spider Among Rose Thorns	22	Ode for the American Dead in Asia	59
Song of Napalm	23	Ballad of Birmingham	61
Us	25	When Given the Opportunity	63
One Christmas in the Trenches	27	September 1918	65
We Lived Happily During the War	29	First Dog in Space	66
The Anthropocene Reviewed: CNN	30	Life at War	67
There are Birds Here	31	Shank	69
When I Think About Tamir Rice While Driving	33	A Word on Statistics	71
This be the Verse	35	Names	73
Good Bones	36	In the Ruins	74
The Love Cook	37	Anthem for Doomed Youth	75
Try to Praise the Mutilated World	39	Yellow Glove	77
		Of History and Hope	81

Guide

Too Saturated ?!

IMG_1094

IMG_1095

IMG_1102

IMG_1103

IMG_1104

IMG_1105

IMG_1106

IMG_1108

IMG_1109

IMG_1110

IMG_1111

IMG_1146

IMG_1150

IMG_1151

IMG_1153

IMG_1156

IMG_1157

IMG_1158

IMG_1159

IMG_1162

IMG_1163

IMG_1168

IMG_1170

IMG_1175

IMG_1176

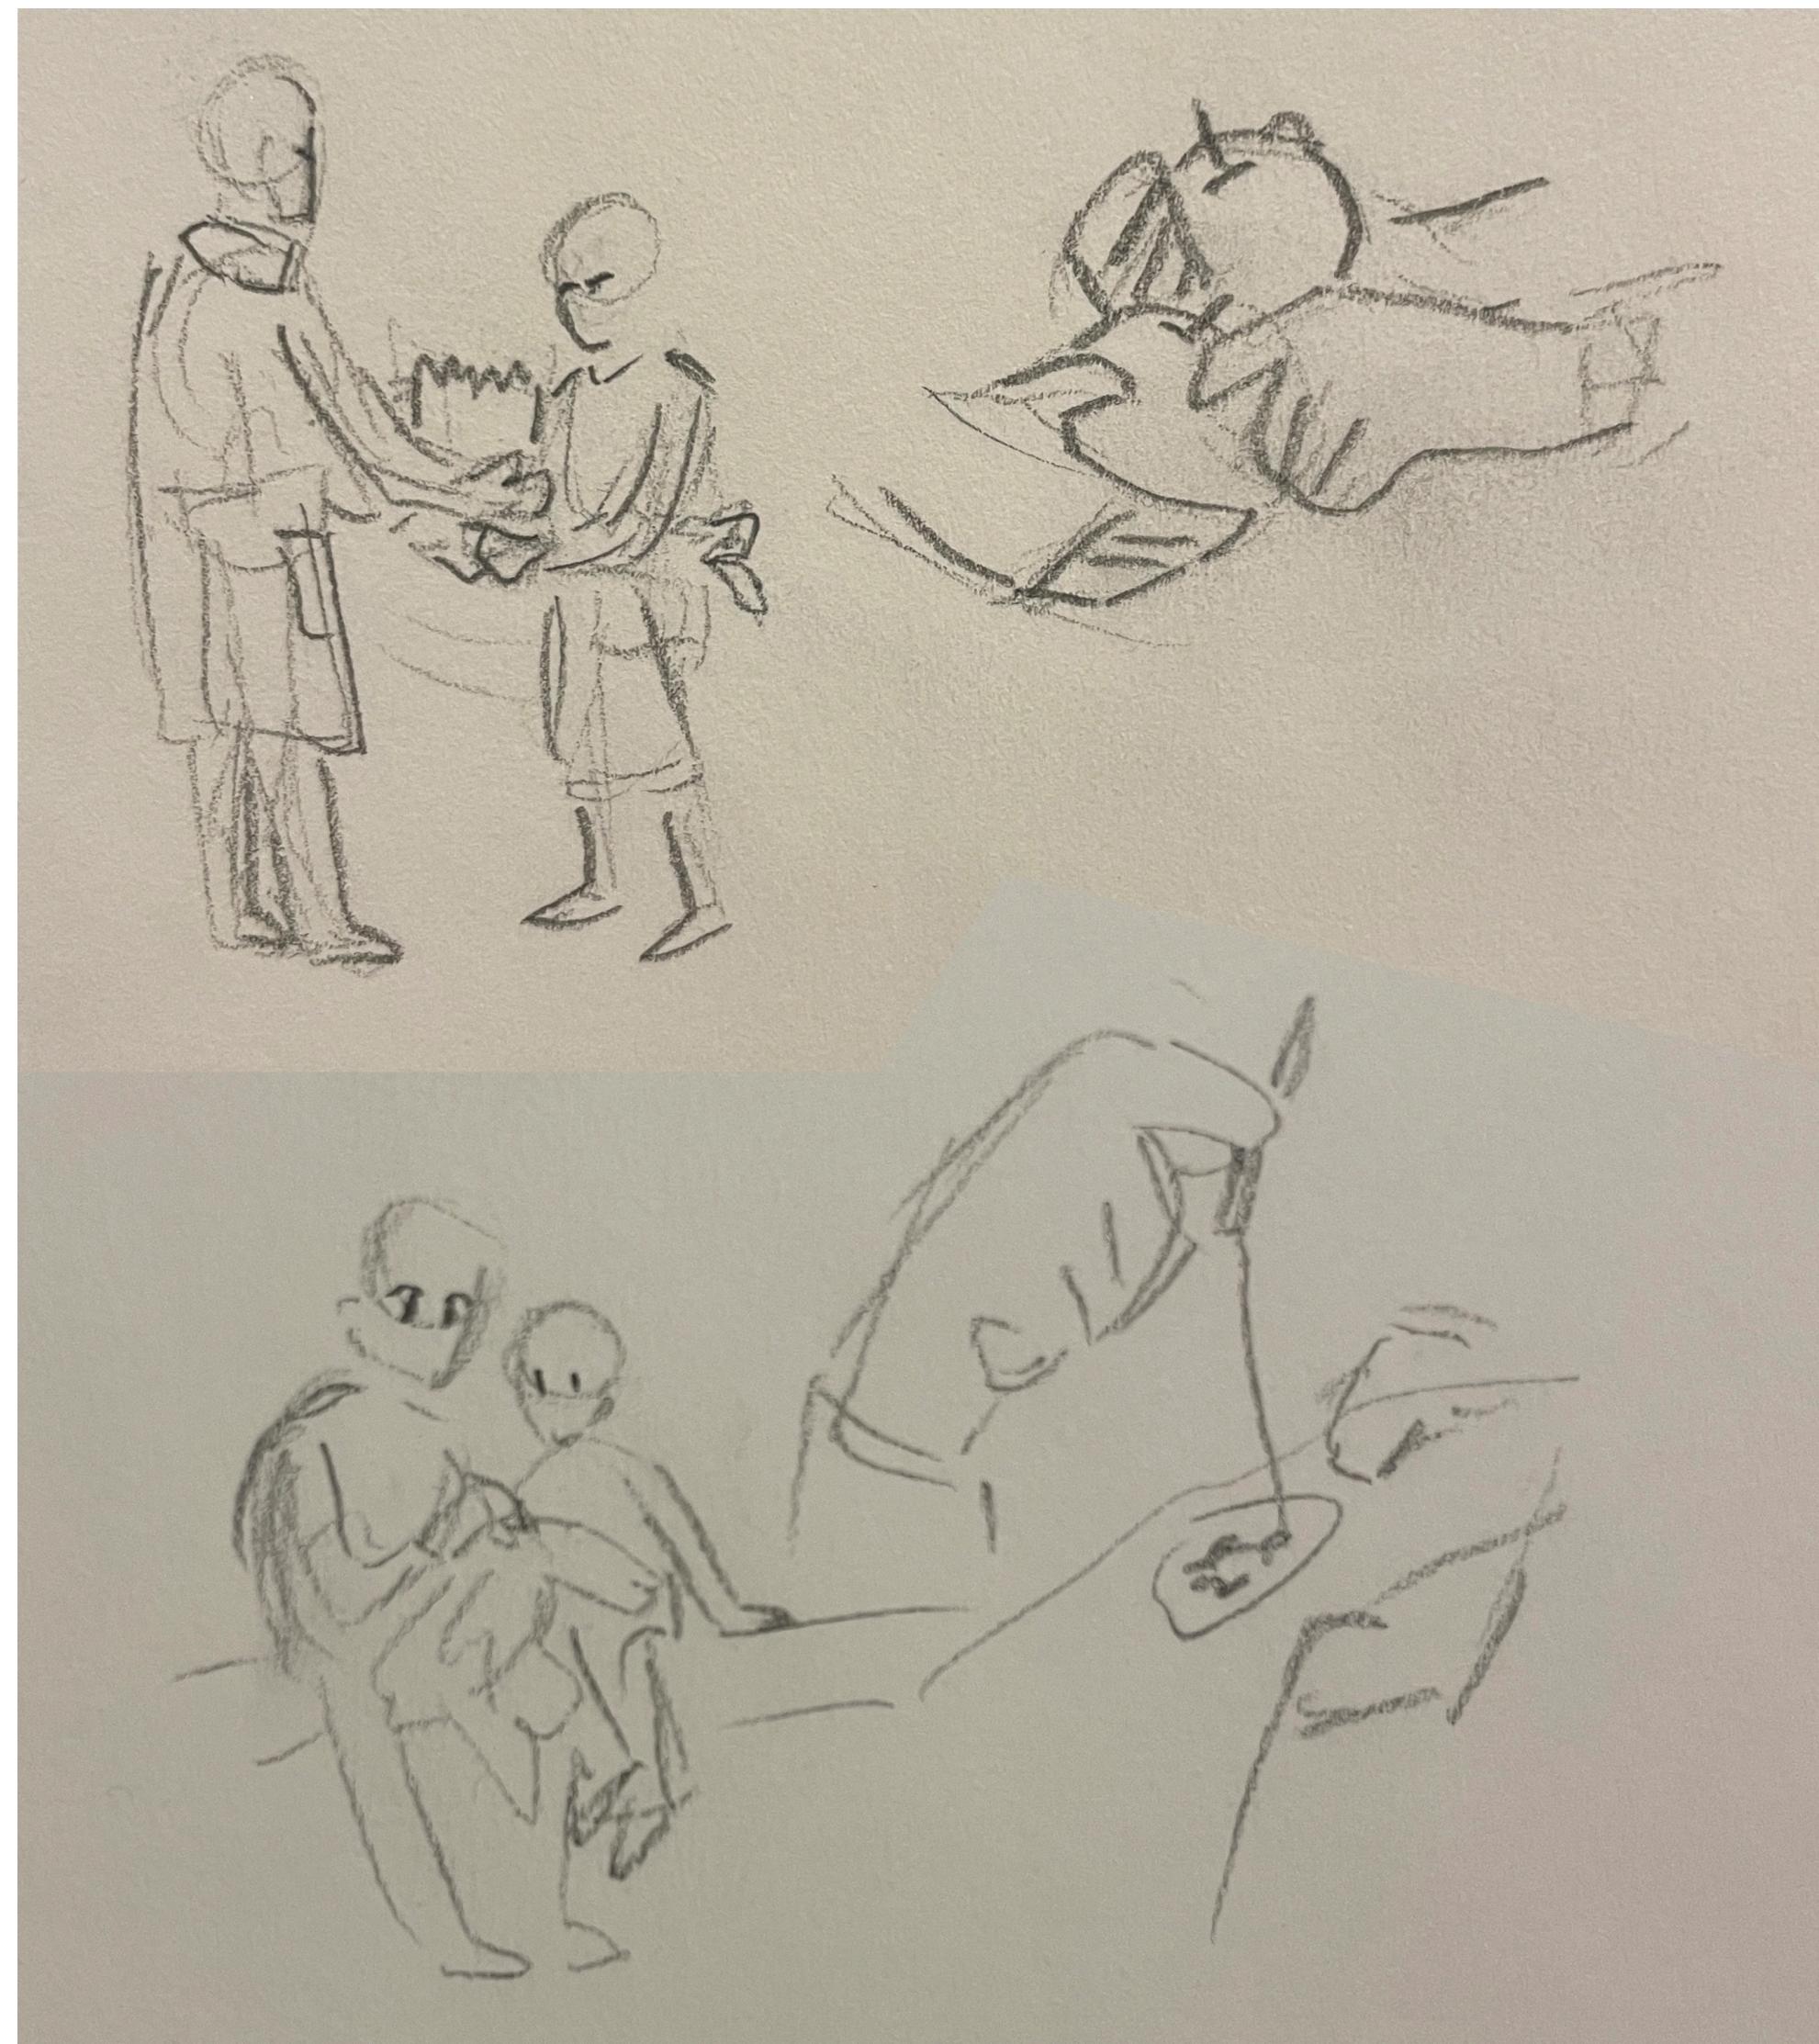

IMG_1301

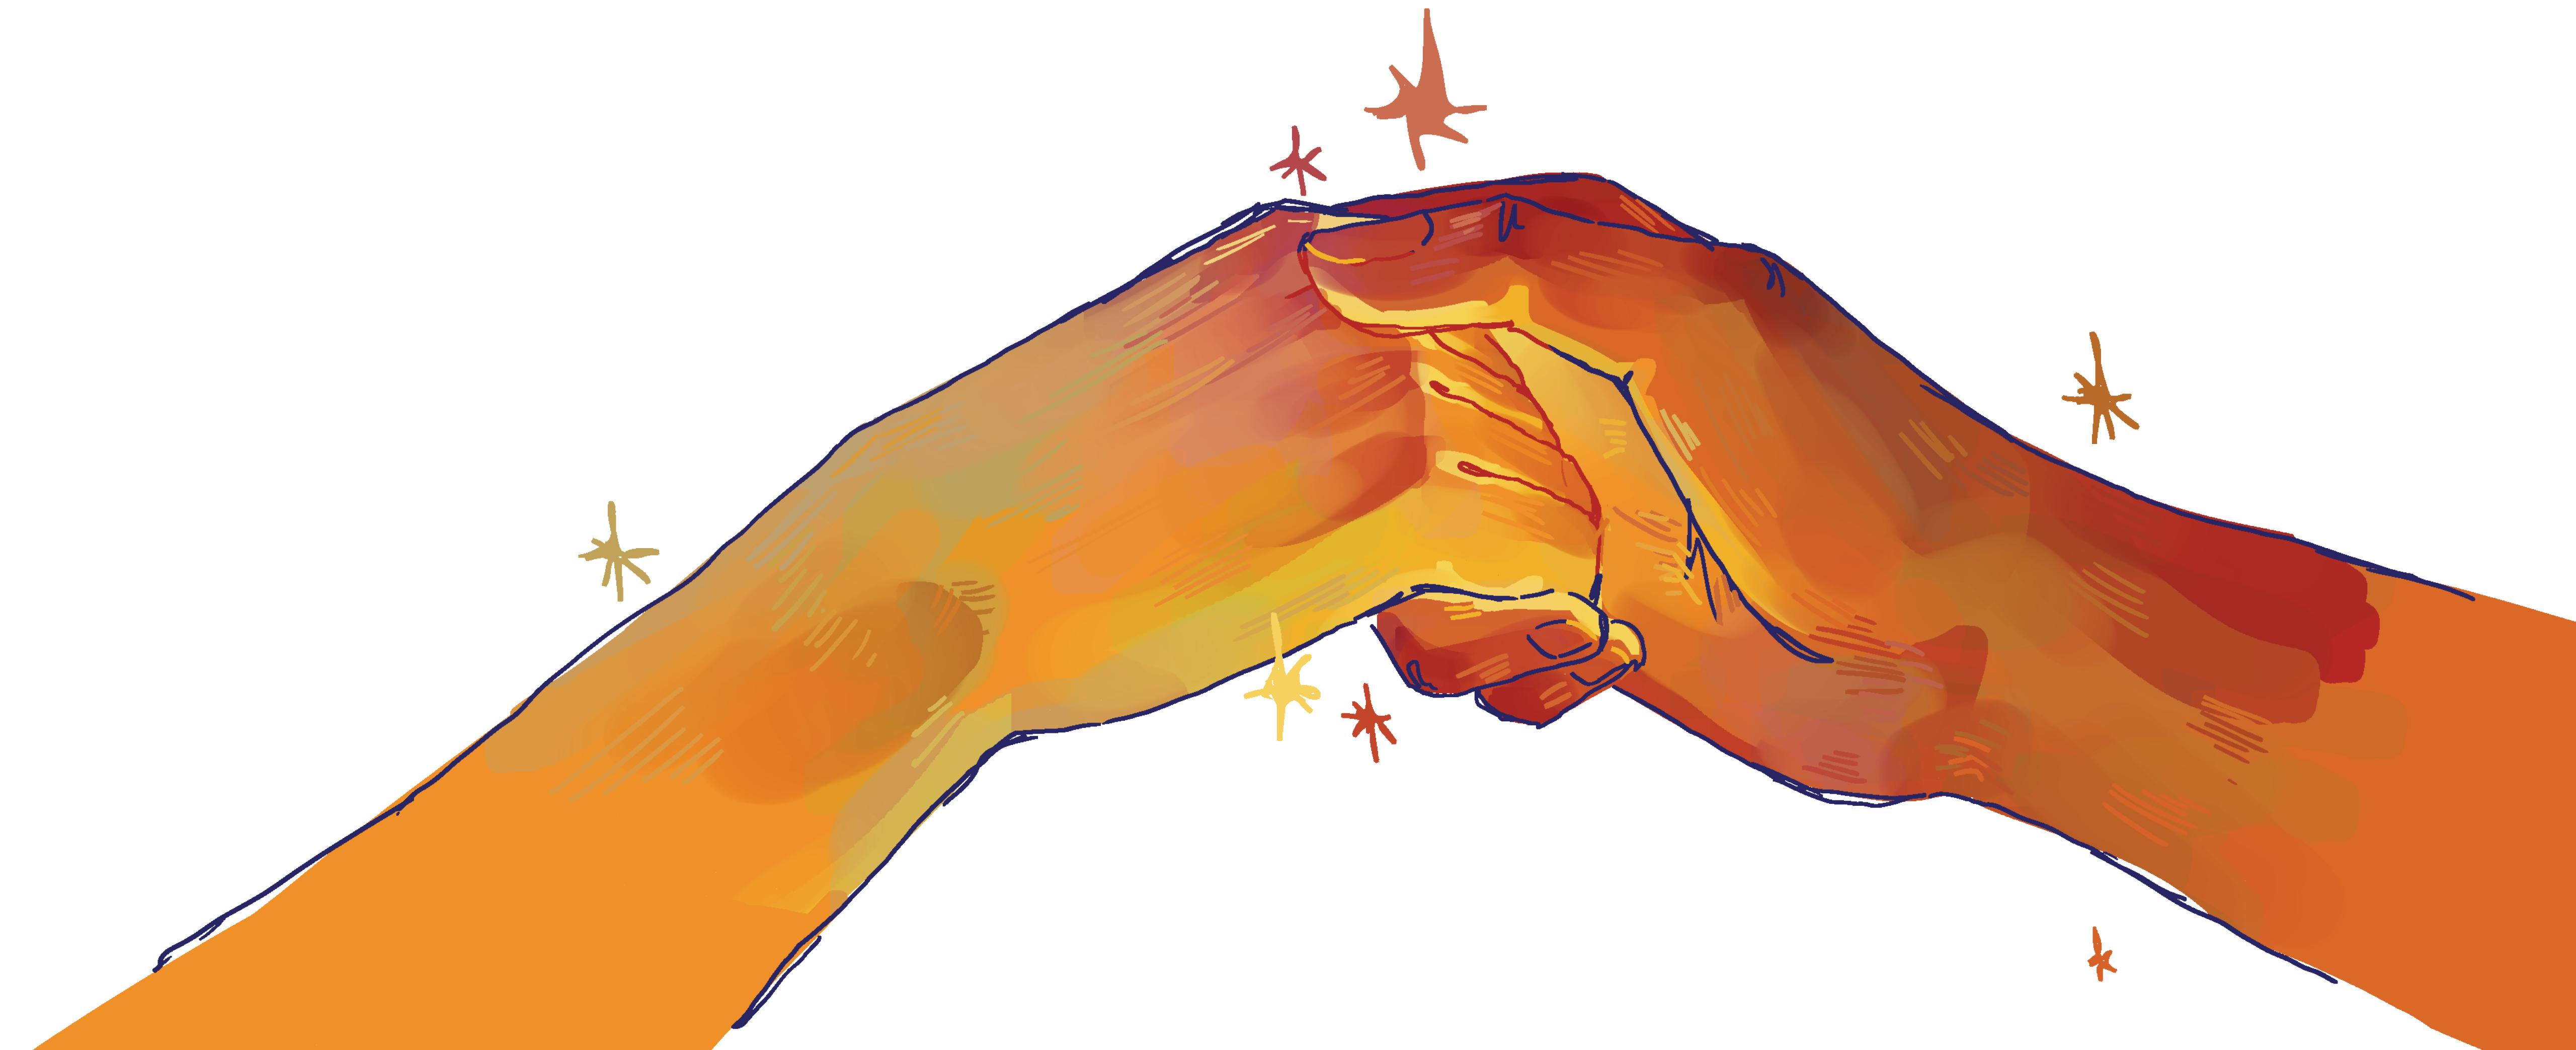

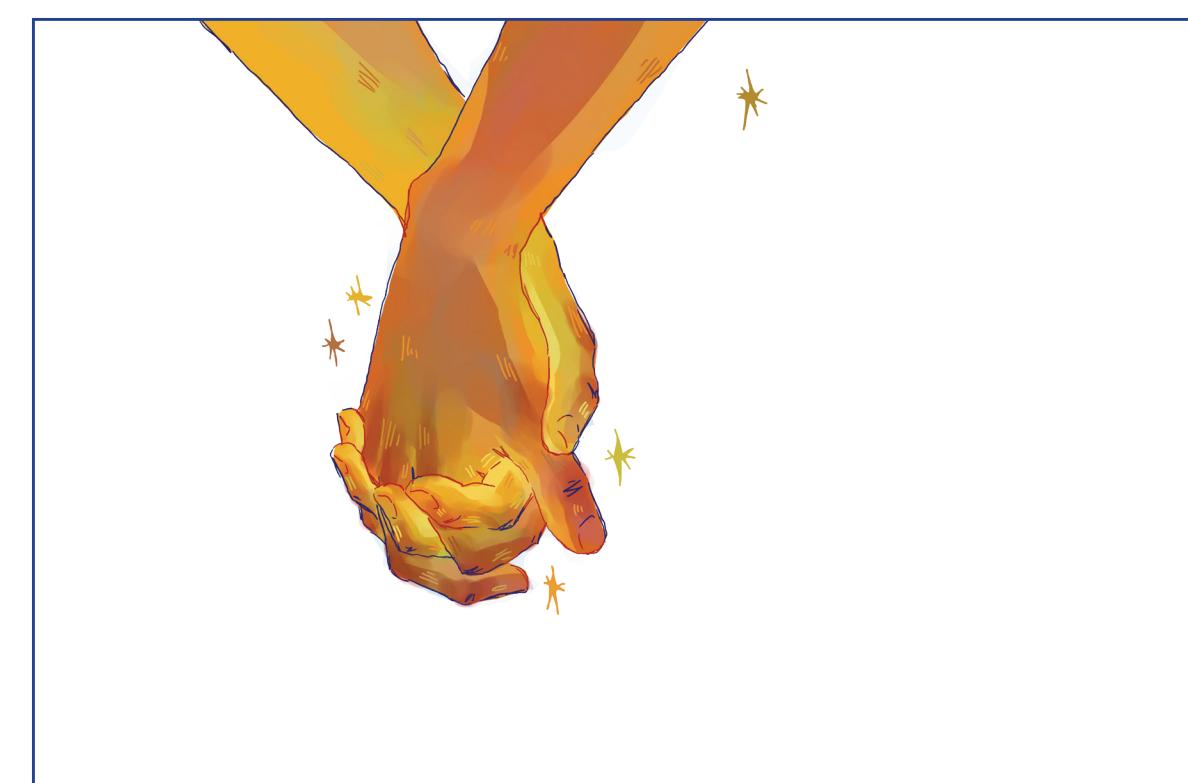

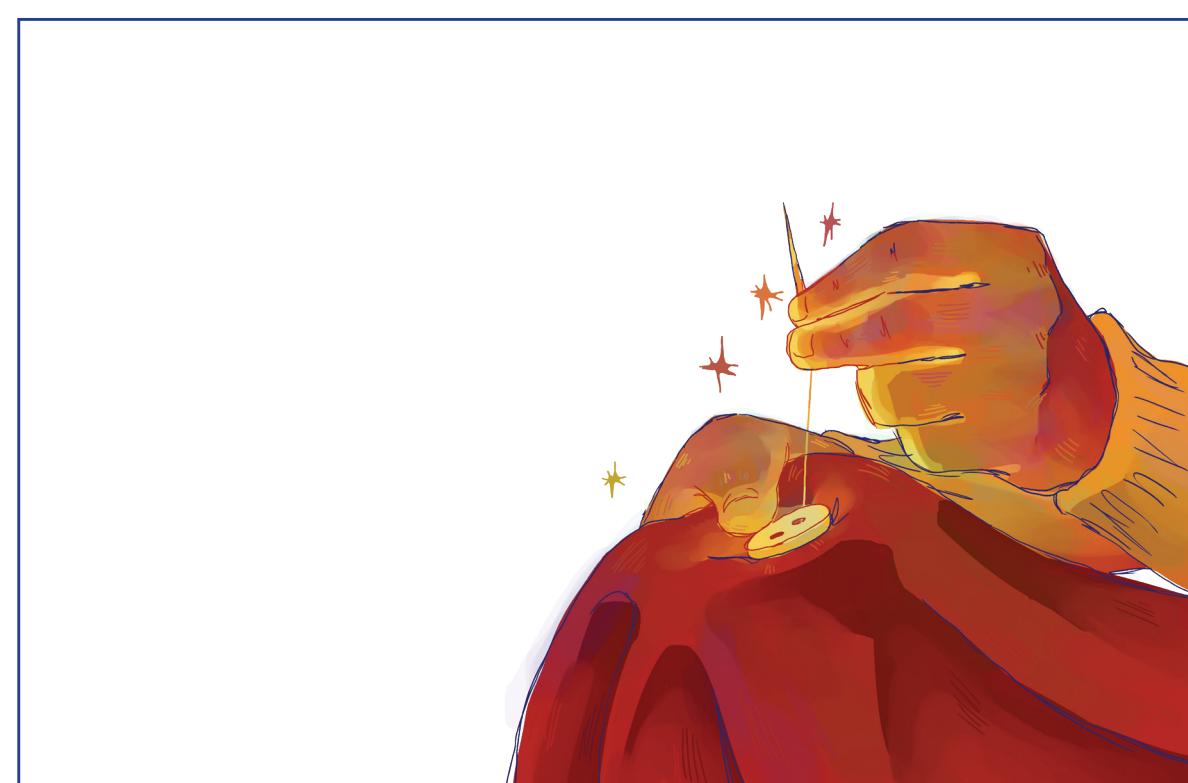

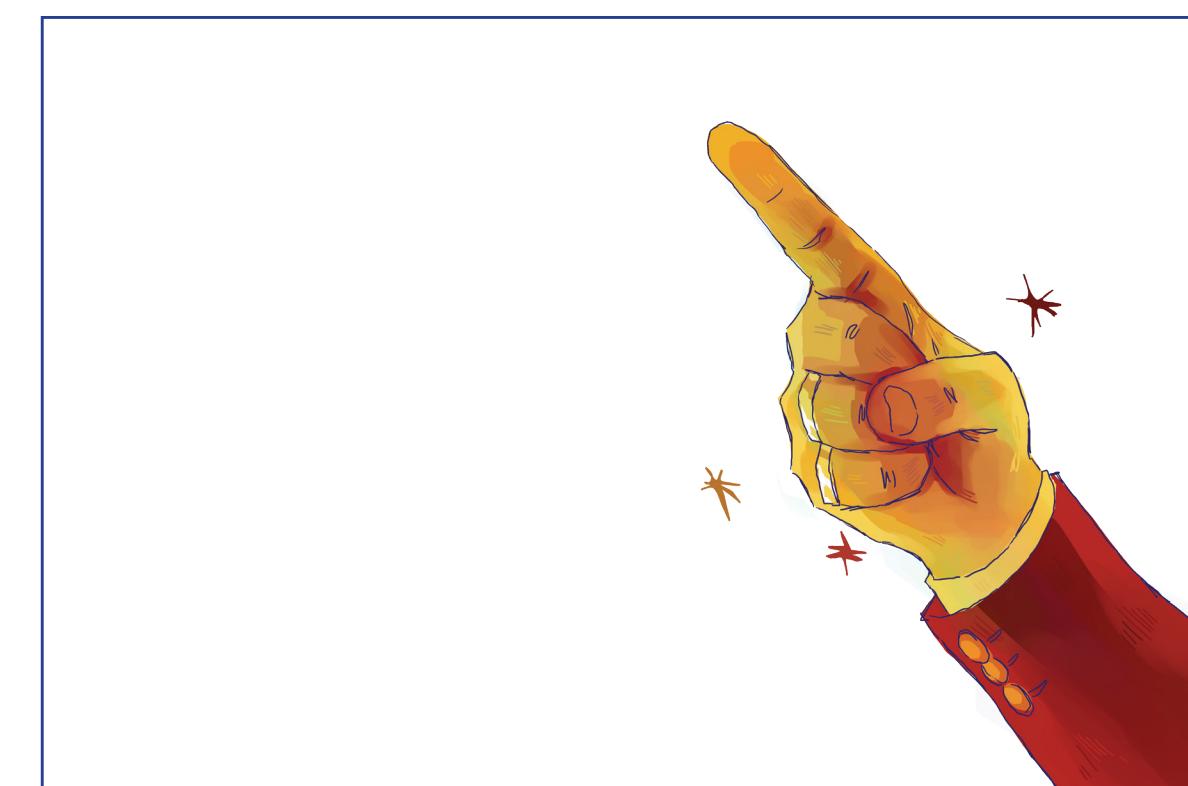

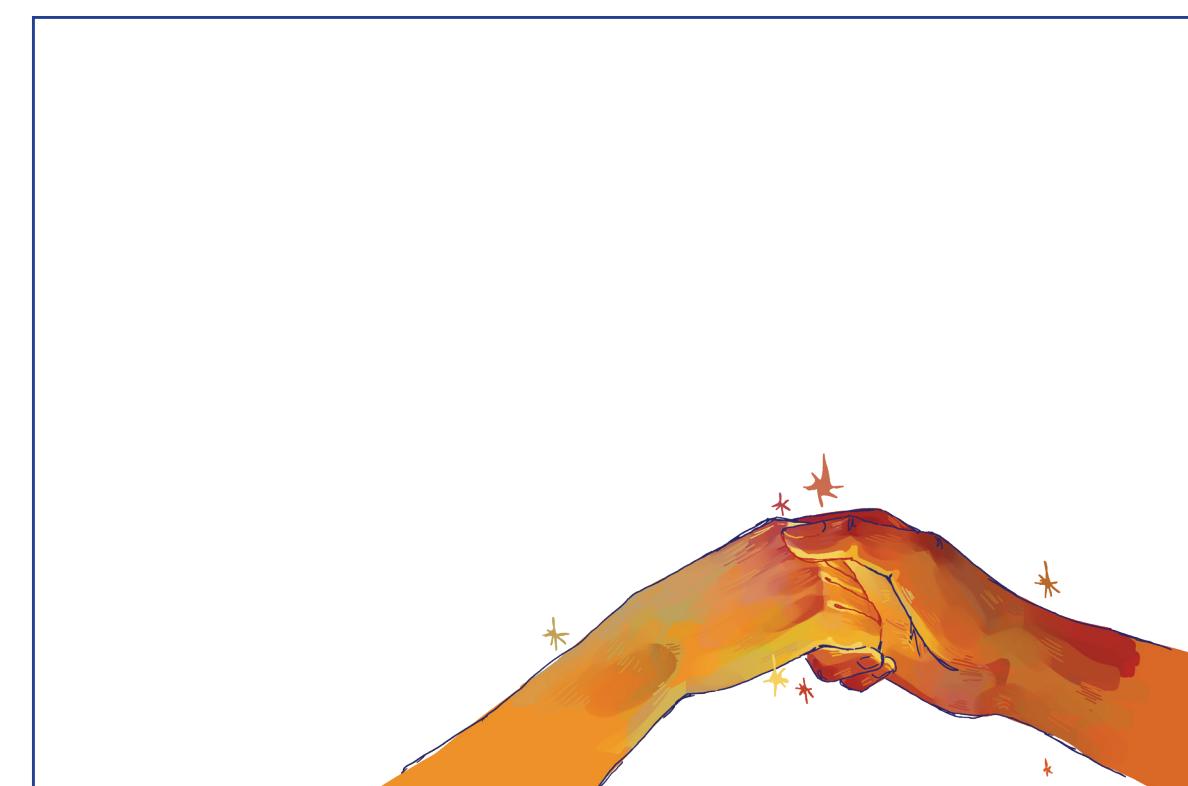

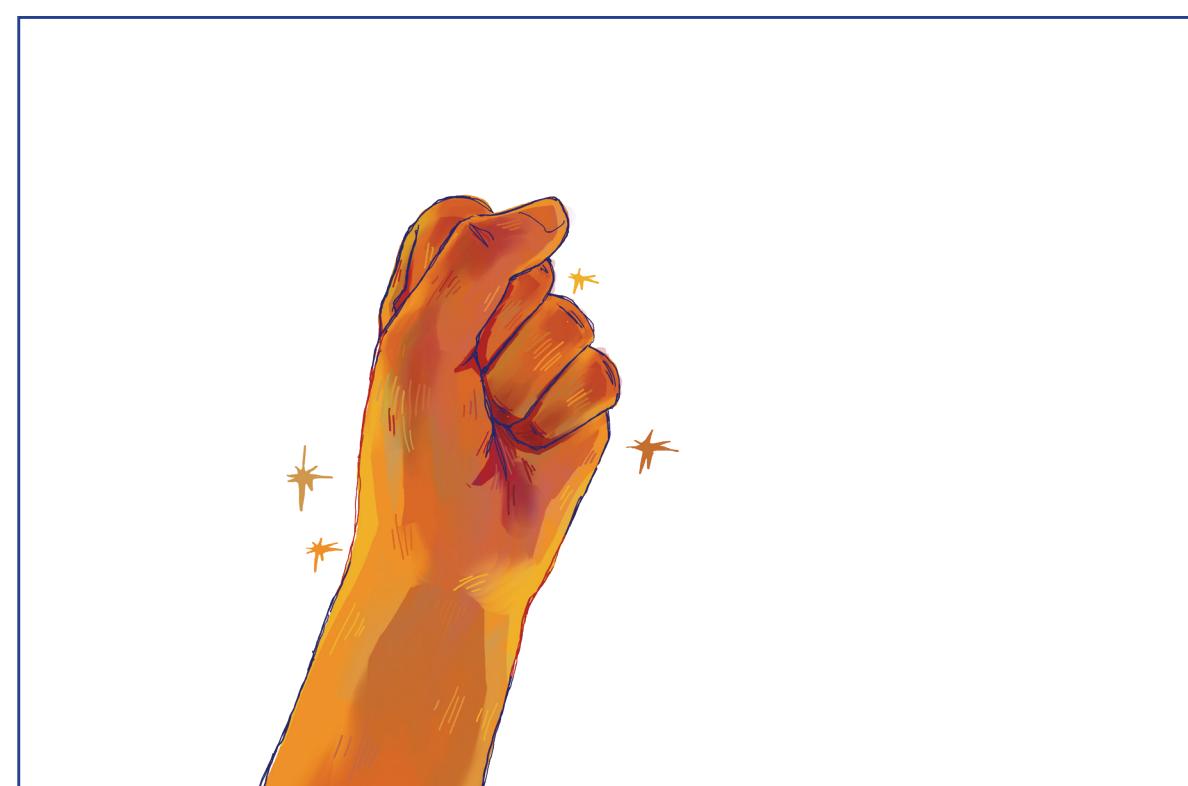

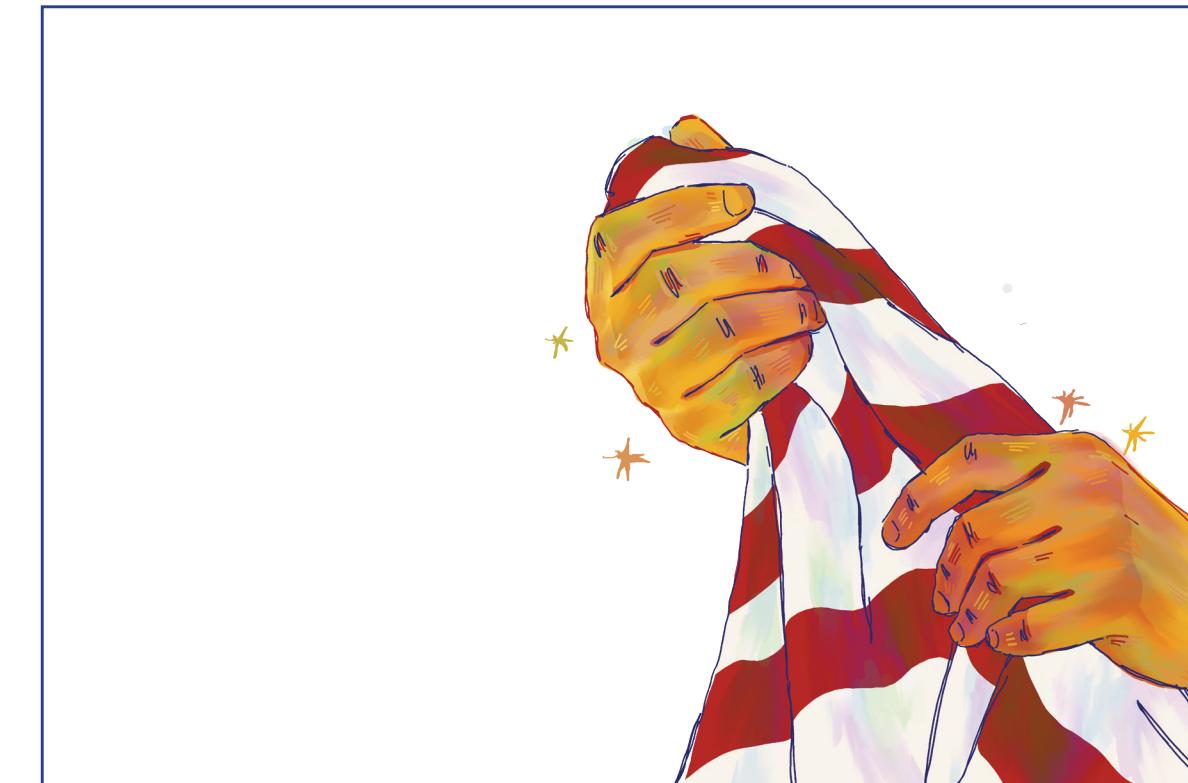

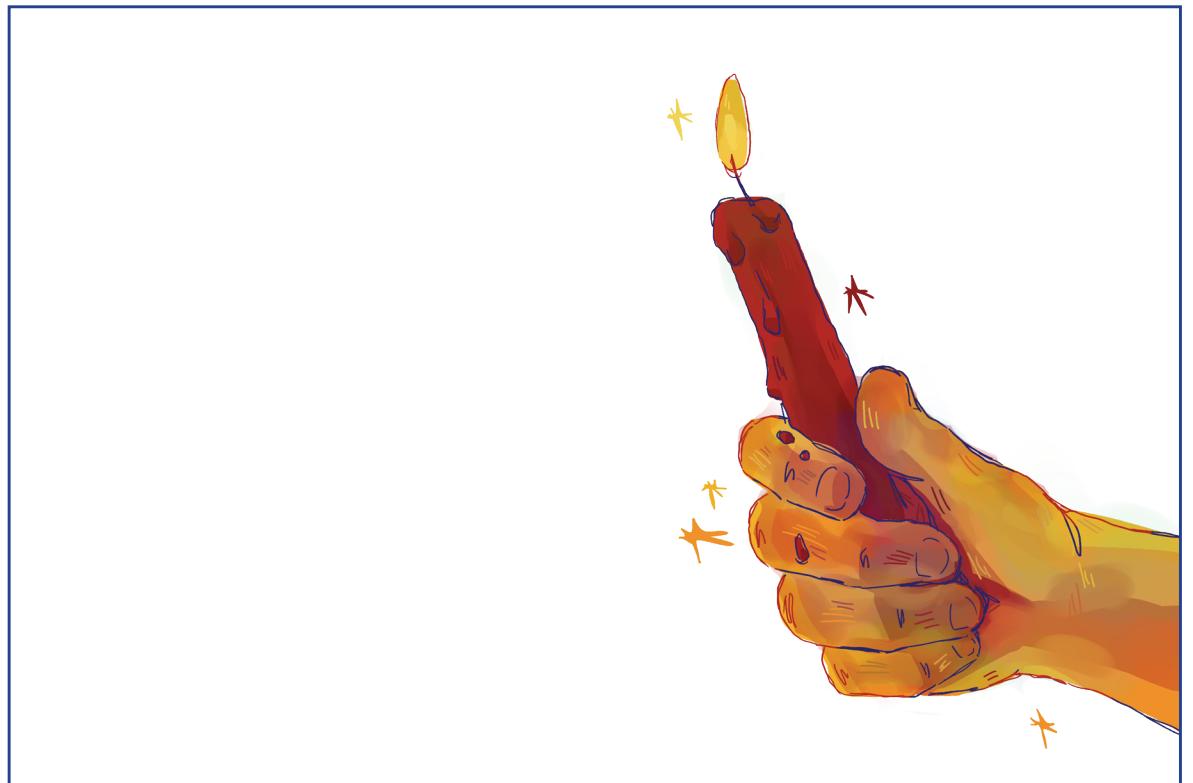

IMG_1604

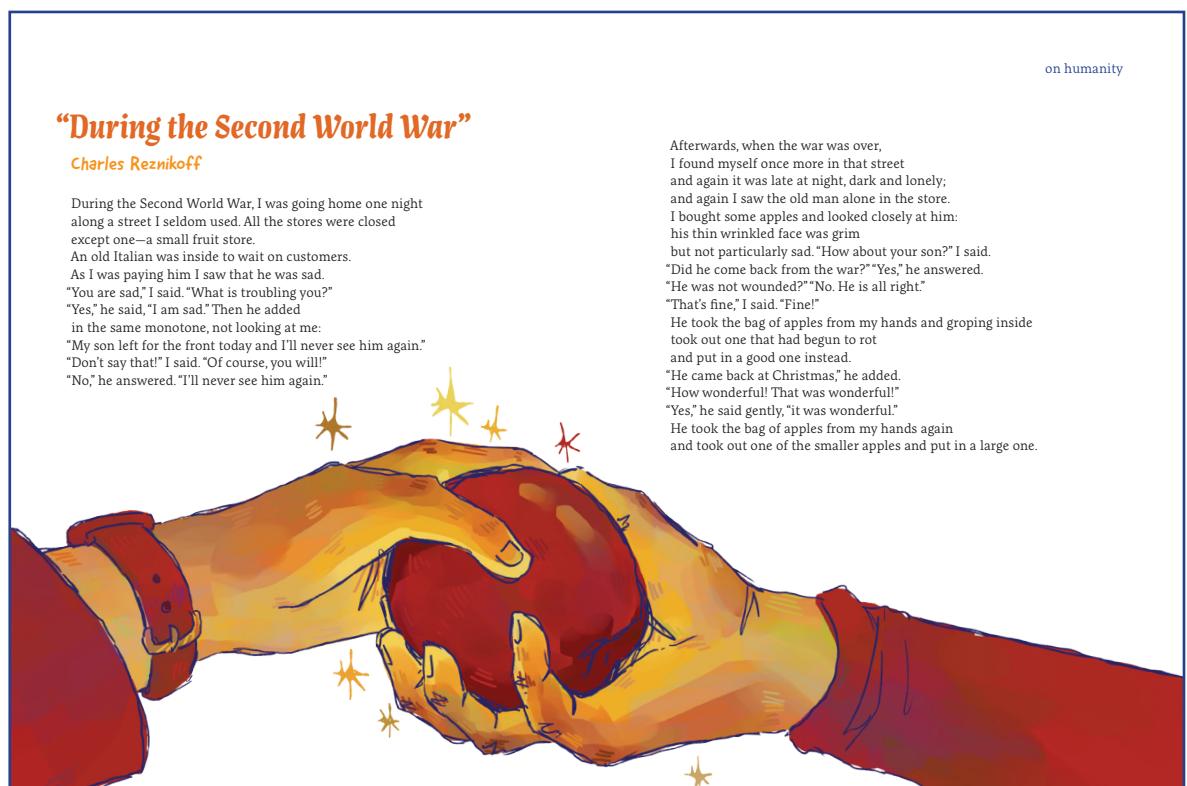

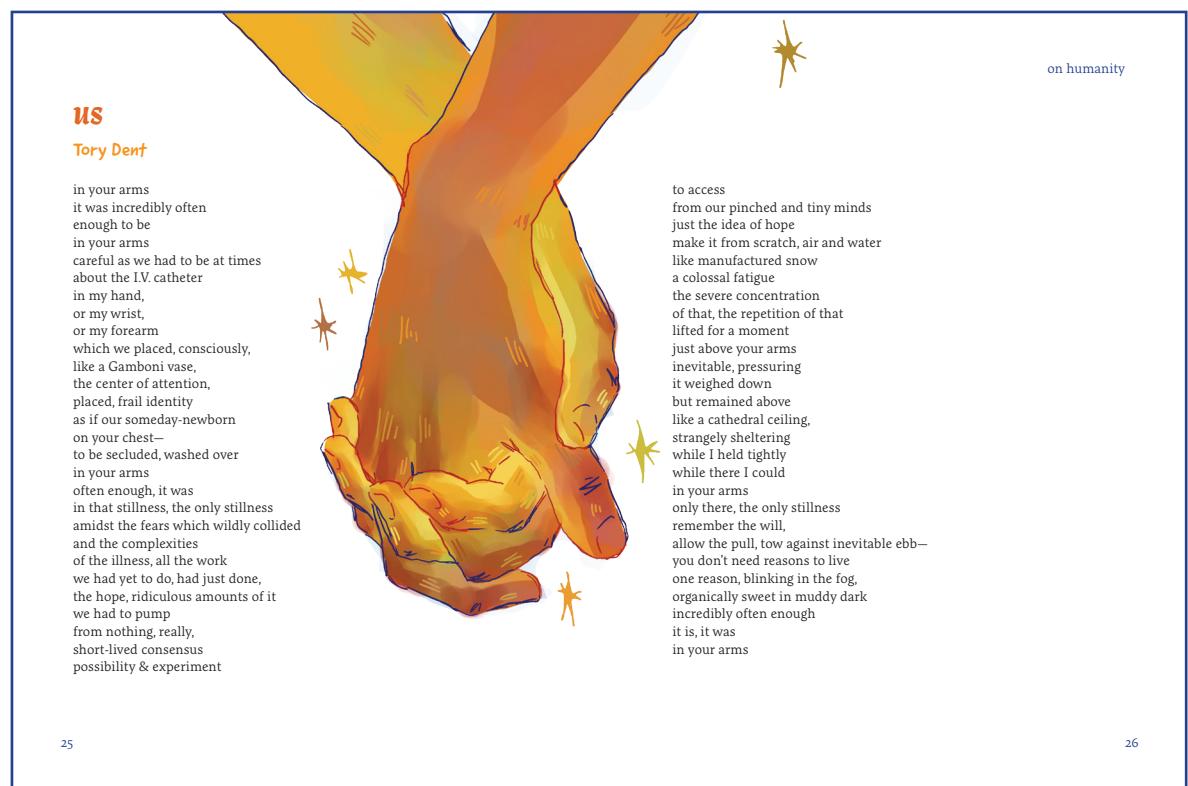

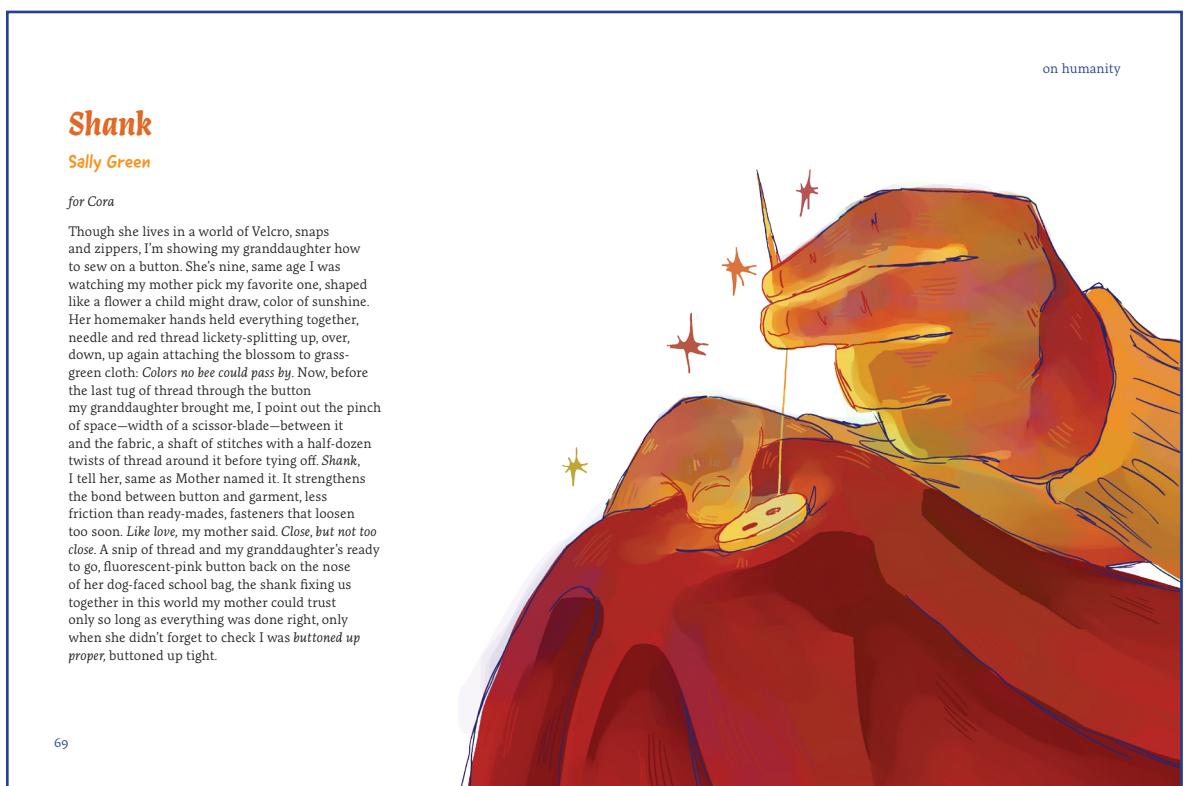

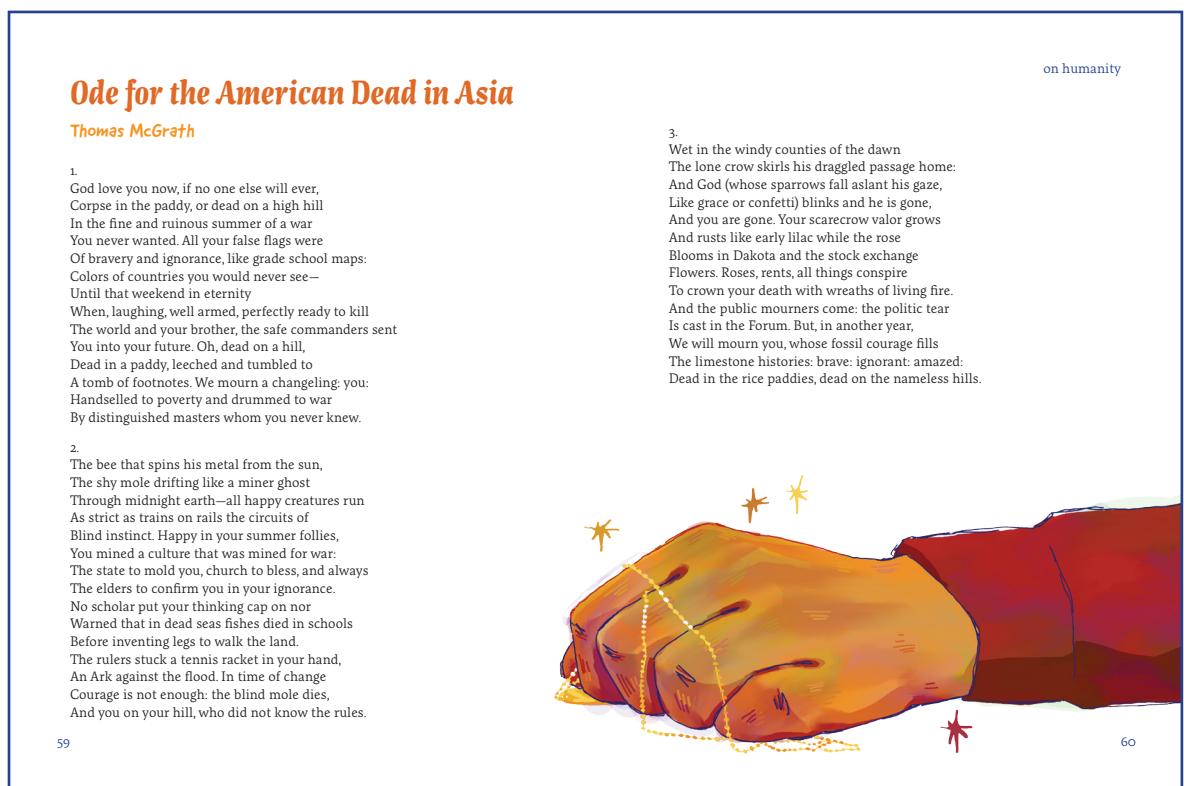

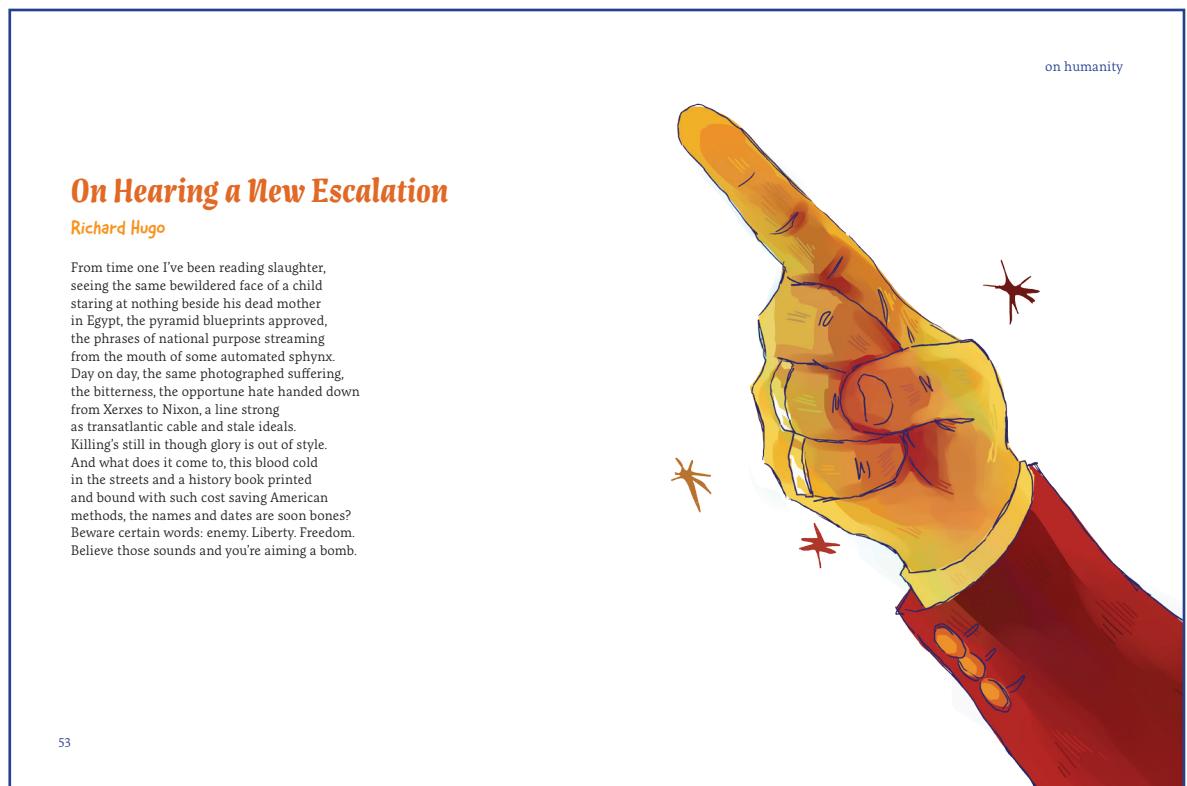

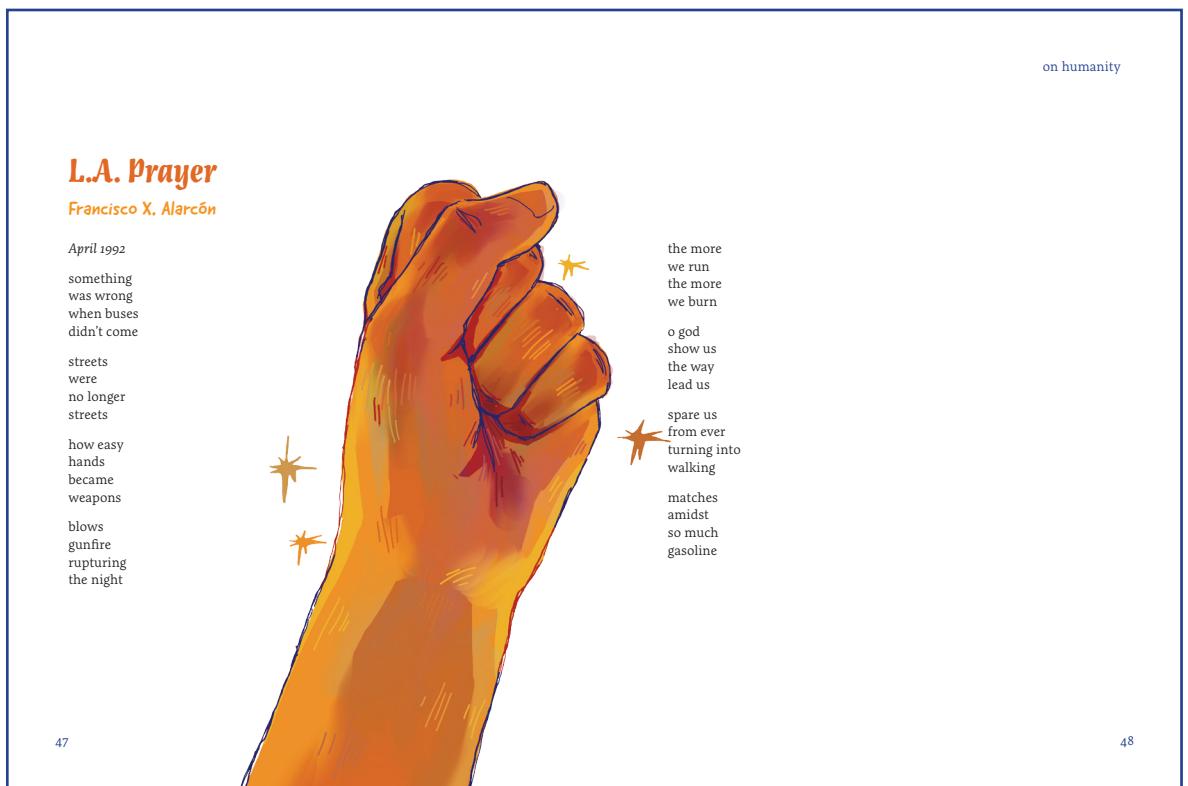

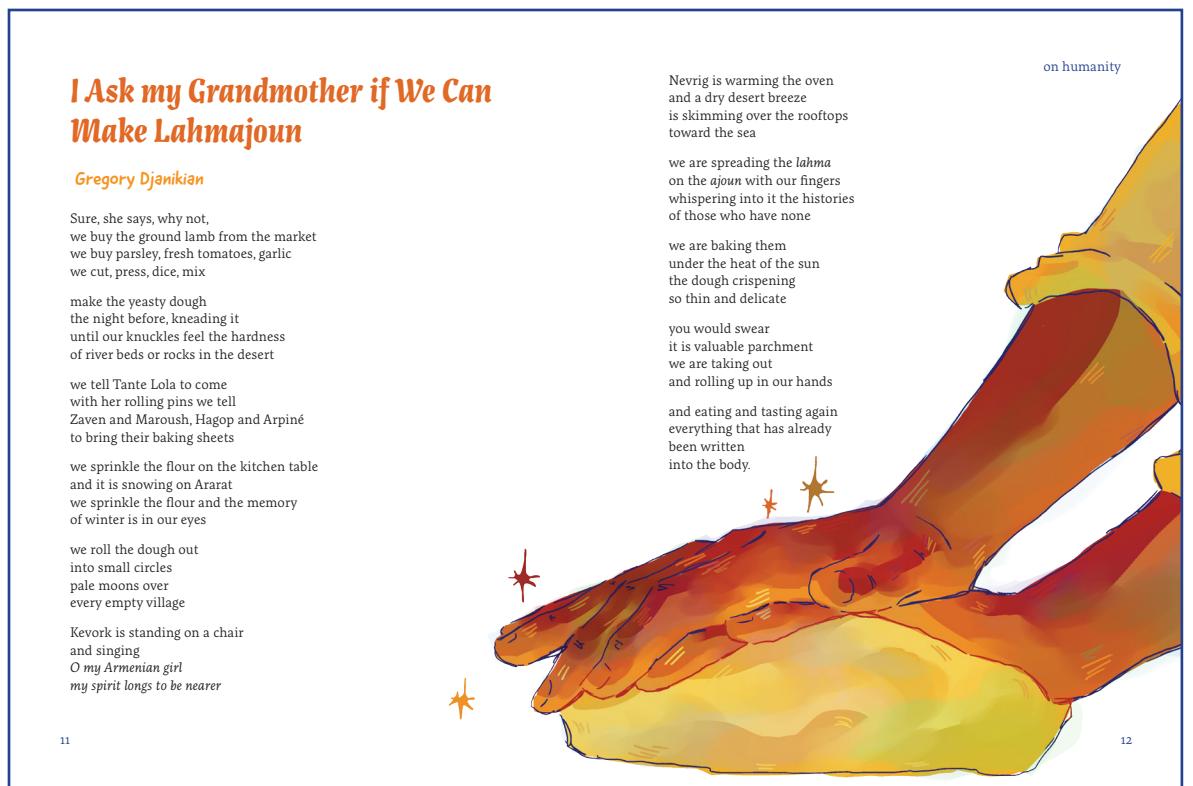

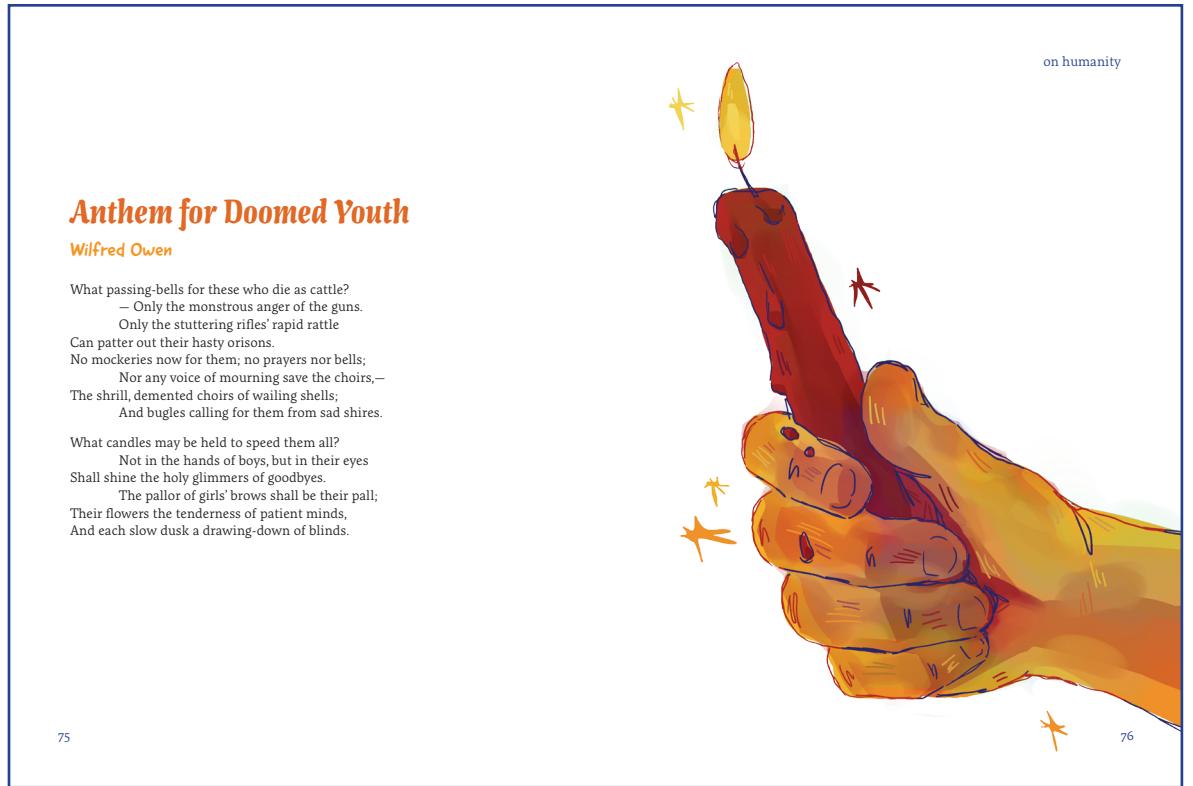

IMG_1606

“During the Second World War”

Charles Reznikoff

During the Second World War, I was going home one night along a street I seldom used. All the stores were closed except one—a small fruit store.

An old Italian was inside to wait on customers.

As I was paying him I saw that he was sad.

“You are sad,” I said. “What is troubling you?”

“Yes,” he said, “I am sad.” Then he added in the same monotone, not looking at me:

“My son left for the front today and I’ll never see him again.”

“Don’t say that!” I said. “Of course, you will!”

“No,” he answered. “I’ll never see him again.”

Afterwards, when the war was over,
I found myself once more in that street and again it was late at night, dark and lonely;
and again I saw the old man alone in the store.
I bought some apples and looked closely at him:
his thin wrinkled face was grim but not particularly sad. “How about your son?” I said.
“Did he come back from the war?” “Yes,” he answered.
“He was not wounded?” “No. He is all right.”
“That’s fine,” I said. “Fine!”

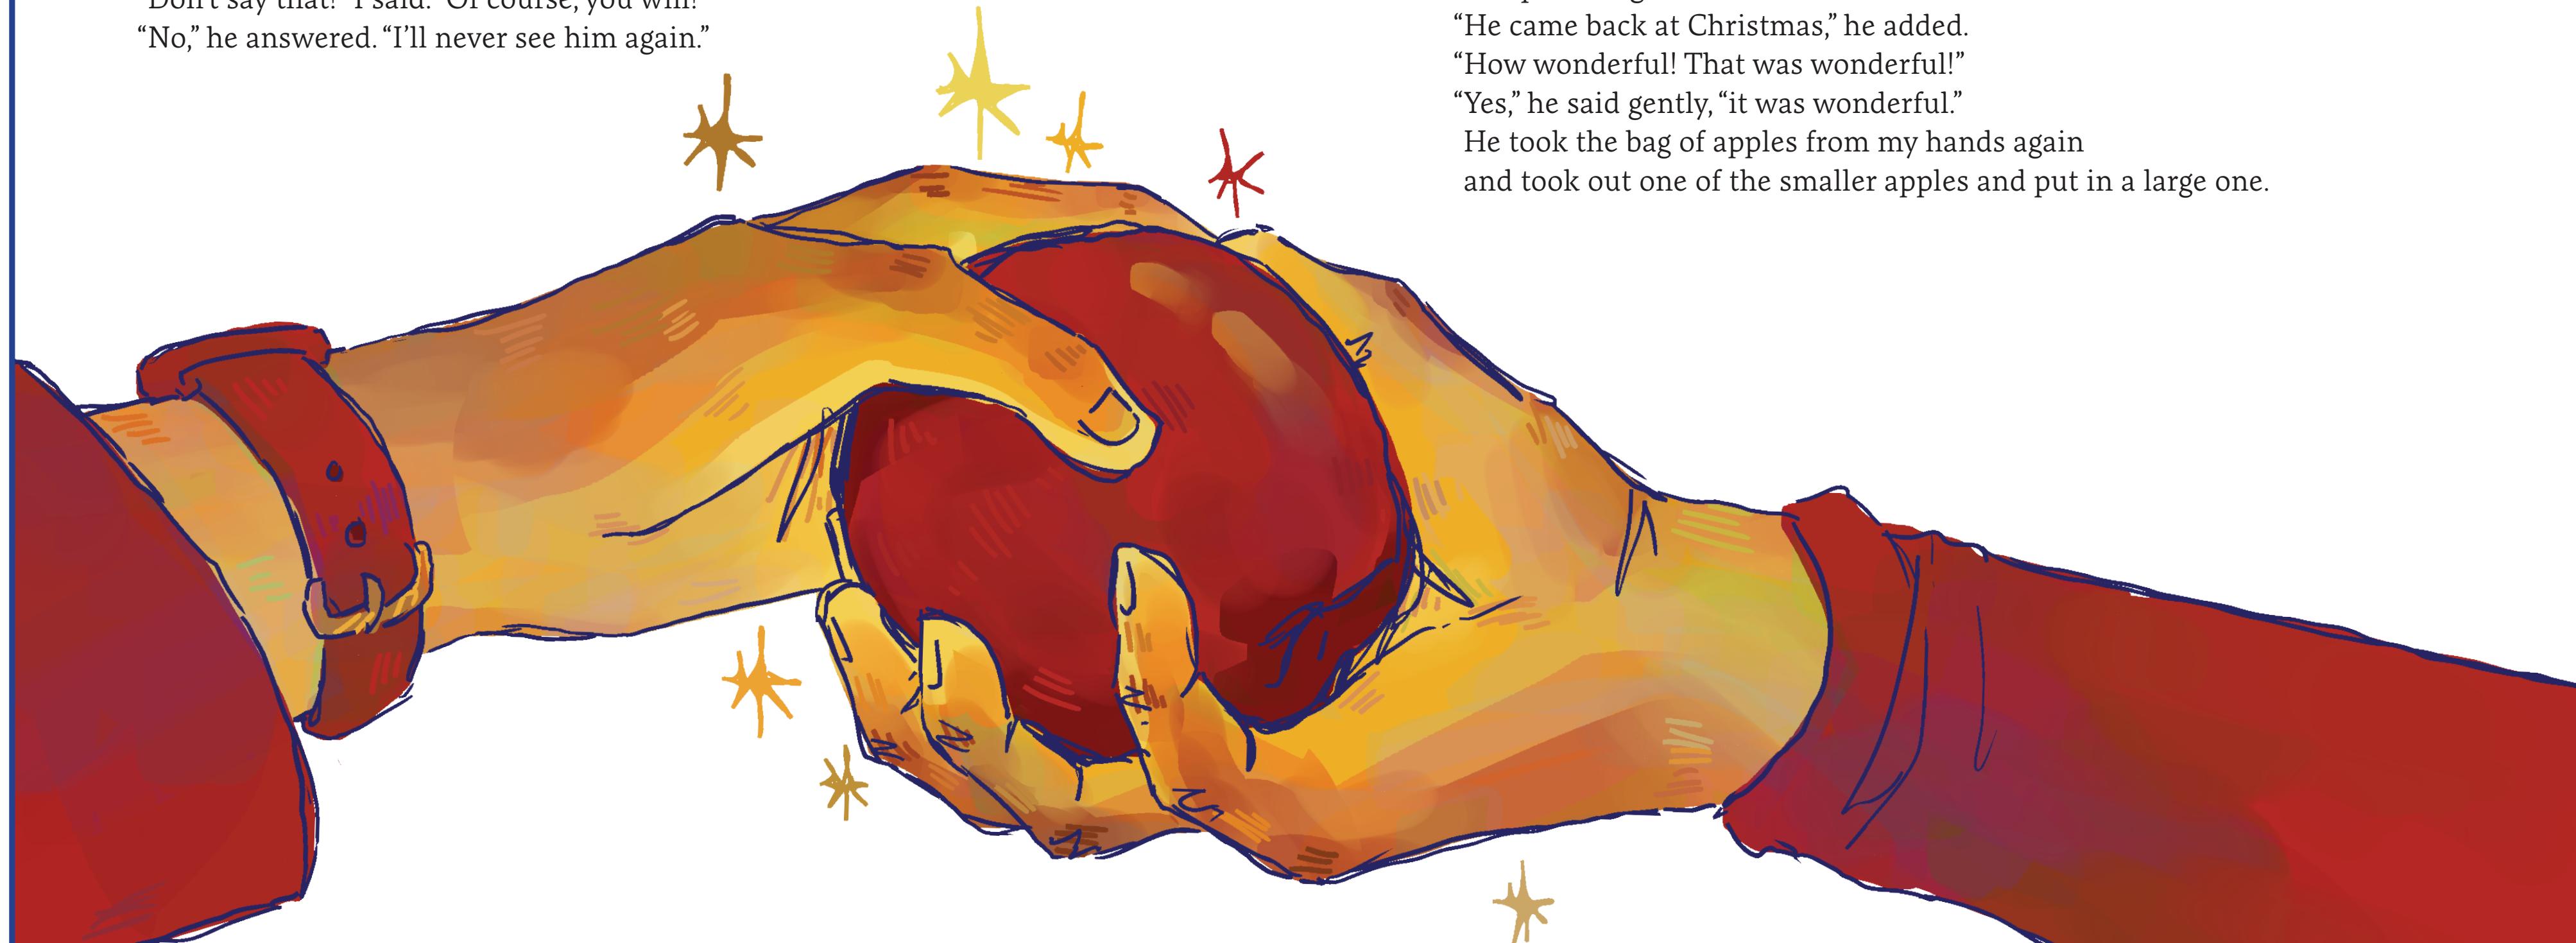

He took the bag of apples from my hands and groping inside took out one that had begun to rot and put in a good one instead.

“He came back at Christmas,” he added.

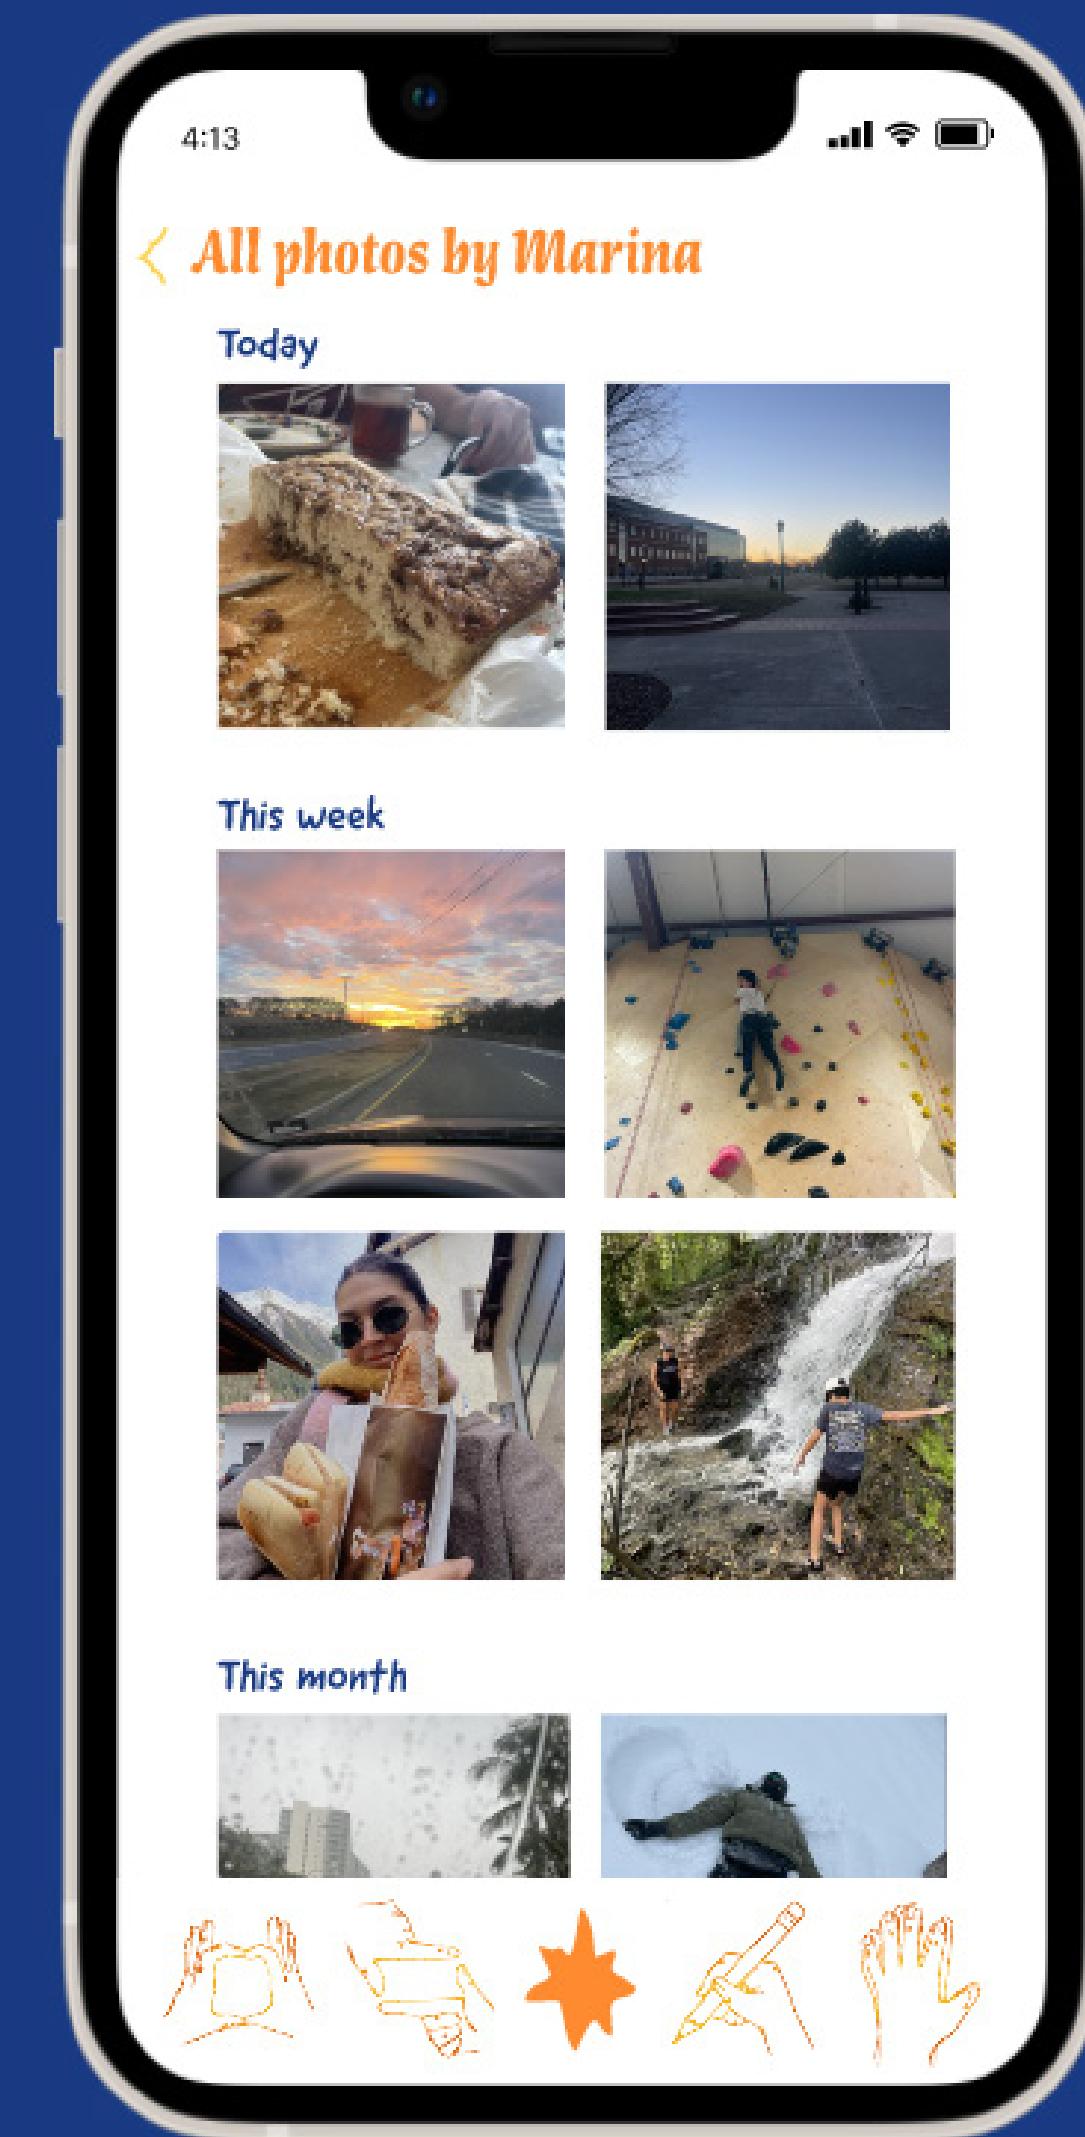

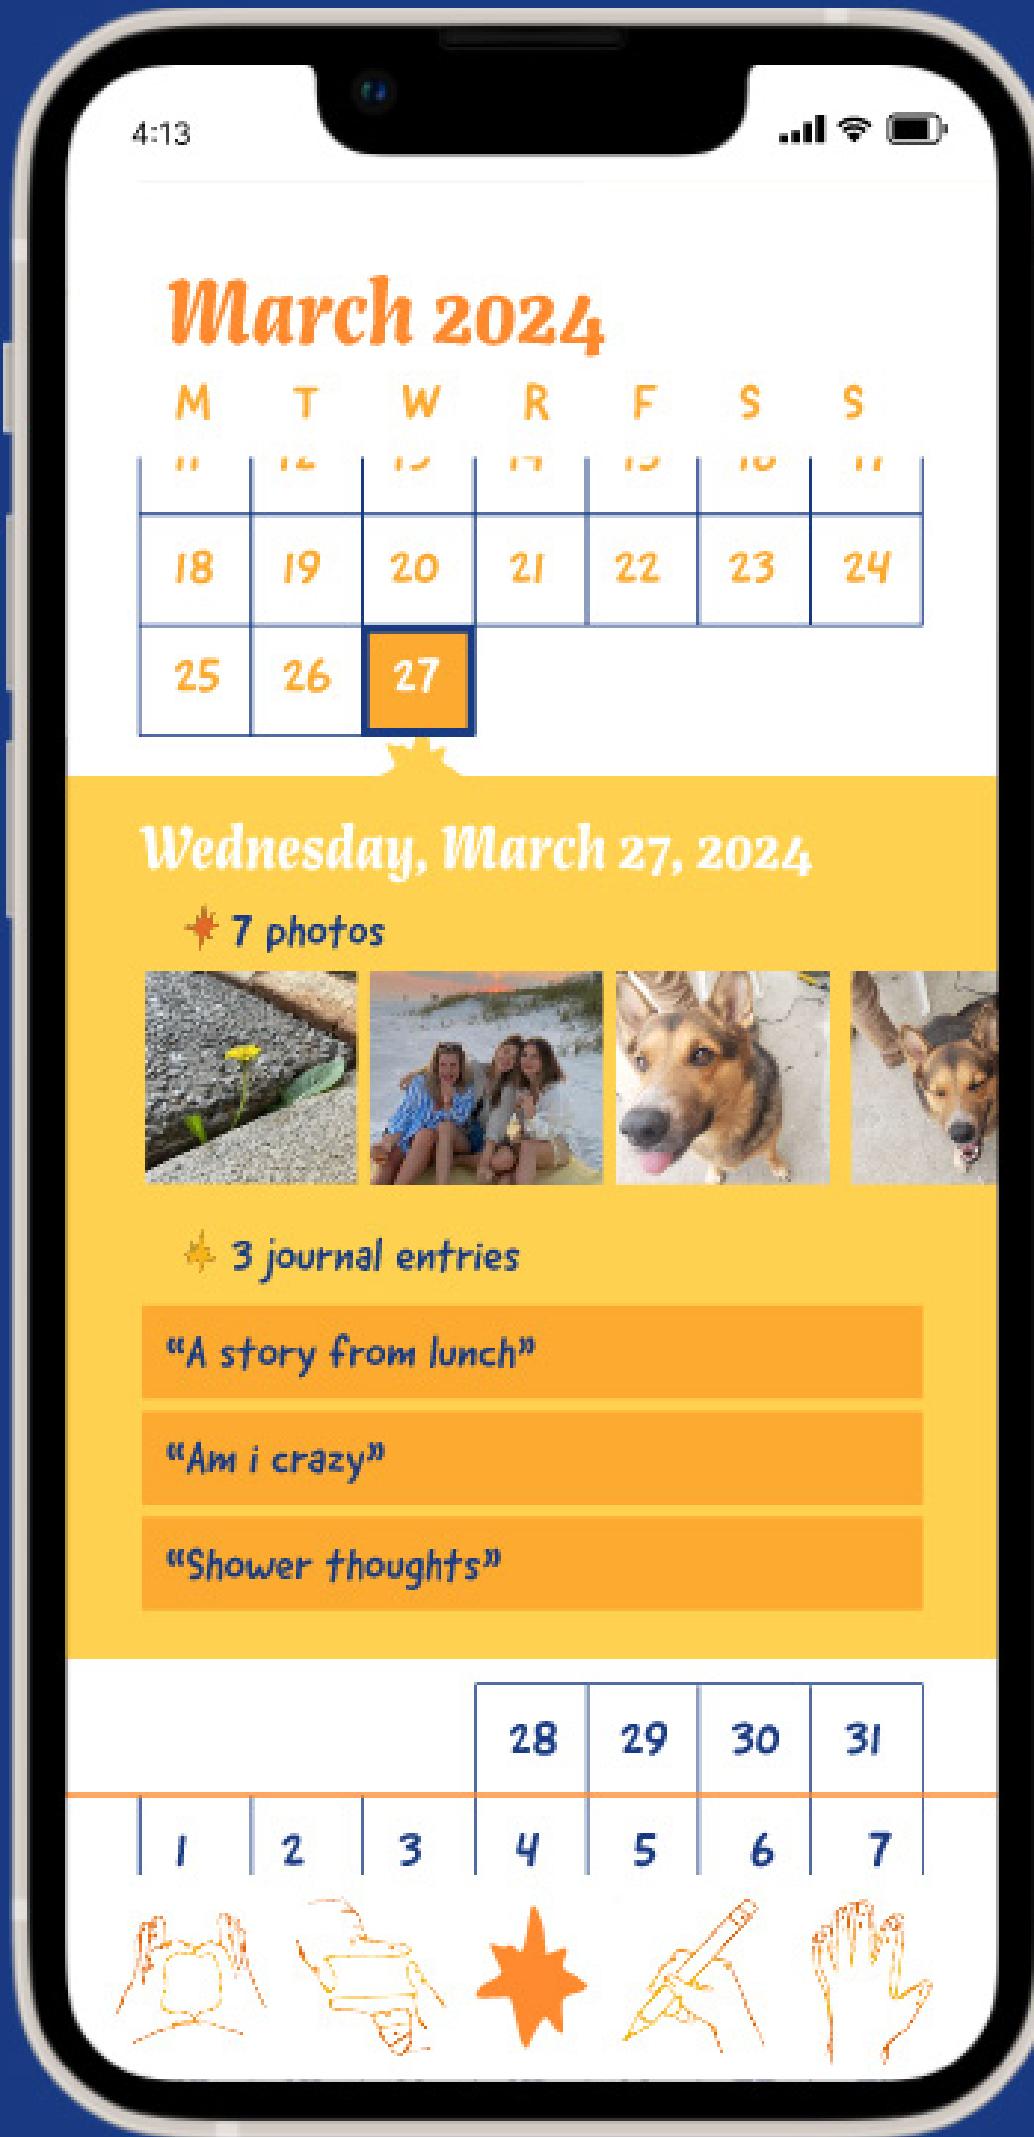

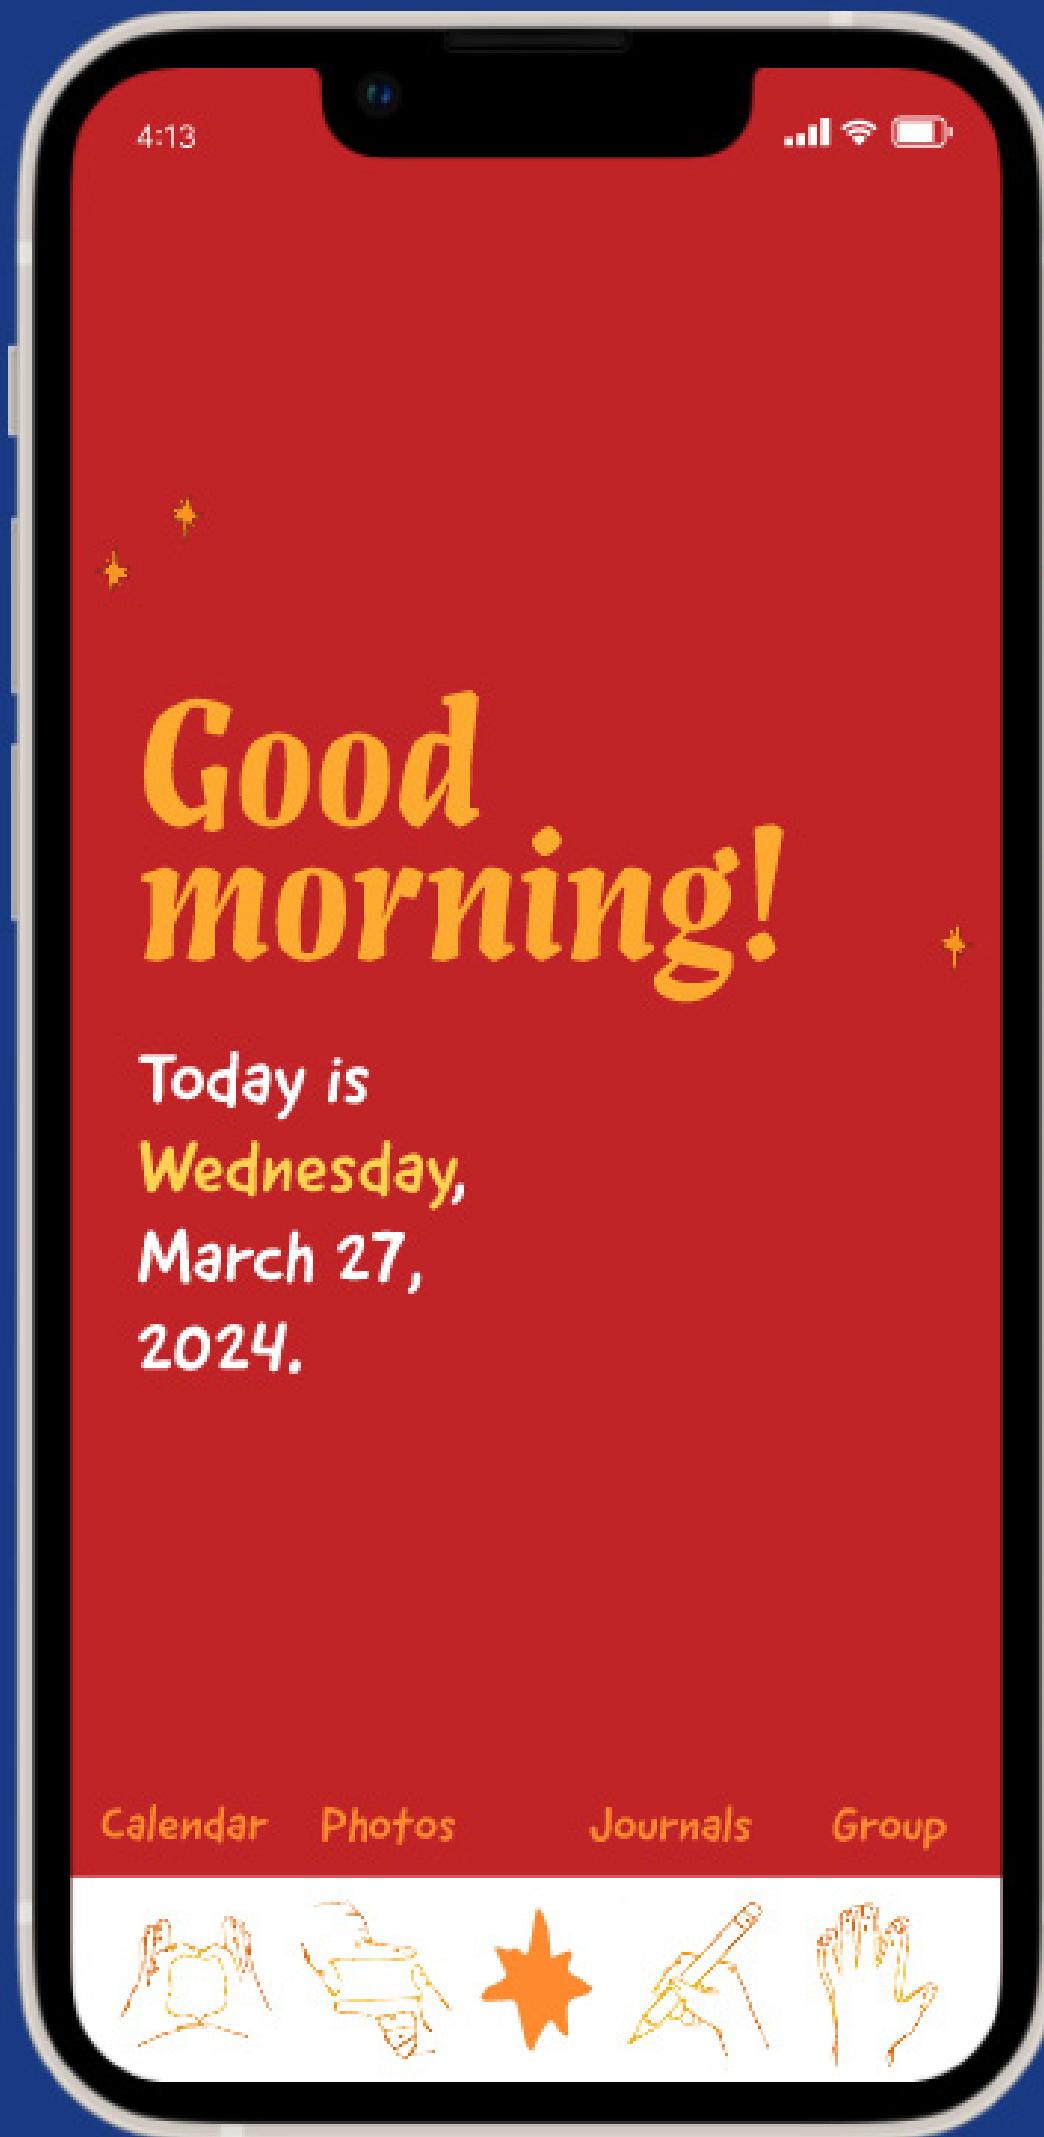

“How wonderful! That was wonderful!”

“Yes,” he said gently, “it was wonderful.”

He took the bag of apples from my hands again and took out one of the smaller apples and put in a large one.

Thanks for your support!
Learn more about our mission at onhumanity.org

Laika's story

Laika was the first creature to orbit Earth. She achieved this in 1958, during the Cold War space race. In October 1957, Sputnik 1, the first Soviet spacecraft, was such a great success that Khrushchev, the leader of the USSR, demanded another: "space spectacular." He gave a deadline of 1 month.

The spacecraft was put together quickly. A stray dog was chosen from the streets of Moscow, because they could presumably handle extreme cold and hunger. The scientists found one with a calm and sweet personality, perfect for the job. They named her Laika, "little Barker," and began her training. She spent long periods of time in confined spaces, eating space gel and going through simulated rocket acceleration & noises. Her trainers got attached to her, calling her nicknames like Little Curly and Little Lemon. Before the launch, one of the scientists took her home to play with his children. He said, "I wanted to do something nice for her. She had so little time left to live."

All the same, it was time for Laika to go. As she was being strapped in for the last time, the technicians kissed her nose, knowing she wouldn't return. Laika was chained in place in the cabin, with only enough room to stand or lay. During the launch, Laika's heart rate & breathing were monitored, rising to double or triple normal levels. The rush-job ship malfunctioned, and the cabin began to overheat. Within 7 hours, Laika was gone.

Today, Laika is known and beloved around the world. There are countless memorials and artwork paying respects to her, from stamps to online games. It seems we are regretful about sacrificing her.

Laika

on humanity

"The line separating good and evil passes not through states, nor between classes, nor between political parties either — but right through every human heart — and through all human hearts."

Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn

"The line separating good and evil passes not through states, nor between classes, nor between political parties either —

but right through every human heart — and through all human hearts."

Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn

Thank you!

